National Student Coordinator for Dukakis Is Princeton High Graduate Ariela Gross

Ariela Gross
Stumping for the Duke

At Dukakis headquarters in downtown Boston, a young Princeton woman has assumed a significant role in the campaign's day-to-day operations. As national student coordinator for the Dukakis-Bentsen campaign, Ariela Gross, 23, a 1983 graduate of Princeton High School, works with student groups on about 55 campuses around the country. They are in every state except Alaska.

If the name Ariela Gross sounds familiar, it is because national attention was focused on her in June, 1983, after the Princeton High School senior wrote a letter to President Reagan calling for a freeze on nuclear weapons. Miss Gross had been named a Presidential Scholar, and when the president of the Commission on Presidential Scholars heard about the letter, he threatened to revoke her scholarship.

This brought a lot of press, interviews on Nightline and Donahue, a petition in her defense signed by 70 percent of the students at Princeton High School, and a private meeting with President Reagan. It also brought a formal apology from the Secretary of Education.

"This incident for me triggered a desire to become politically involved," said Miss Gross. "The threat to my

Township Committee Allocates $26,000 To Hire Recreation Planning Consultant

Bolstered by the pleas of residents for more and better playing fields in the community, Township Committee voted 4 to 1 last week to appropriate $26,000 to hire a recreation planning consultant. Committeeman Tom Poole voted against the measure, saying he did not think it went far enough.

The amount is almost $20,000 less than the $45,000 proposed during joint municipal budget hearings last winter. The larger figure would have included passive recreation areas and parks in the study along with how they should be maintained. Members of Borough Council balked at the $45,000 figure, with several members saying that a study by an outside consultant would not turn up information that is not already known.

In subsequent negotiations, the scope of the study was reduced along with its cost. Last July, Borough Mayor Barbara Sigmund held a press conference to announce agreement between Borough and Township to conduct a $26,000 study to develop a plan that would lead to more active recreation areas and playing fields in the community. Two-thirds of the cost will be borne by the Township, and one-third by the Borough. A formal appropriation resolution or bond ordinance for its share has not yet been introduced by Borough Council.

As described in the Township ordinance adopted last week, the study is to include field inspection of existing and already proposed parks, recreation areas, school playing fields and "other properties designated for current or potential recreational use." In particular, the consultant is to study Community Park, Grover Park behind the Shopping Center, Hilltop Park on Bunn Drive, the 33-acre Van Dyke-Wight property off Snowden Lane, and the 120 acres held by the Sewer Operating Committee.

The consultant is to meet with various community organizations that use recreation facilities within the Borough and Township to gather information on active recreation needs within the community. The consultant is also to develop a plan "to identify active recreation needs and [make] recommendations for further capital improvements" pertaining to these needs.

Also included in the outline is the development of a maintenance program and sched-

The Changing Scene in Princeton's Business District: Two Liquor Stores Closing, New Restaurant Planned

Wine & Game and Cousins to Go

The announced closing of two long-time Princeton liquor stores — The Wine and Game Shop, after 42 years in business, and Cousins Wines and Spirits — cuts from five to three the number of liquor stores remaining in the Central Business District. Surviving are Nassau Liquors, Princeton Wine and Liquor, and Community Liquors.

Archie Brown, owner of Wine and Game for 32 years, says he has closed because he is tired. A lifelong Princetonian, he plans to retire, but will remain in town.

Mr. Brown points to a change in the whole climate of the liquor business, a change that affected his small store at the top of Nassau Street.

"Our business has not held up," said Mr. Brown. "It began when prices were decontrolled, in the early eighties. This particularly affected small stores." The decontrol coincided with an increased emphasis on health, Lahiere's Has Site at 2 Nassau St.

The rumor that has been about town for more than a year has been confirmed. A new restaurant will be opened in the basement of 2-4 Nassau Street by the owner of Lahiere's. Leon Christen said he hopes to go before the Borough Zoning Board in October, and would like the restaurant to be in operation by the Spring of 1989.

The Lahiere's owner describes his new venture as an informal, bistro-type restaurant which will seat 70 or 80. It will include a small bar, seating five.

The menu will be moderately priced, ranging from $5 to $12. It will feature bistro-type cuisine, a good deal of pasta, and some grilled foods. It is expected to be open for lunch from 11 to 2 and for dinner from 5 to 9:30 weekdays and 5 to 10 weekends. As yet unnamed, the new restaurant will open six days a week. Whether it will close Sunday or Monday has not yet been decided.

Jail Sentences Overturned in Drinking Case; Students Ordered to Do Community Service

In exchange for probation and community service, two Princeton University students have escaped 30-day jail sentences.

On Friday, Mercer County Superior Court Judge Thomas DeMartin overturned the jail sentences of Borough Judge Russell W. Annich Jr. against Kenneth Simpler, 20, and Lisa Napolitano, 21, two student officers of the Charter Club who had been charged by Borough police with providing alcohol to underage students last February 6 during sign-in activities. They had been sentenced to jail in May and had appealed the sentence.

In place of jail, Judge DeMartin placed the students on probation for nine months, contingent on their performing community service with the University's Alcohol and Drug Abuse program. In addition, he ordered them to pay $545 in fines and court costs.

Defense attorney Kim Otis said there would be no further appeals of the convictions.

In a prepared statement, Princeton University President Harold T. Shapiro commented: "Community service can provide positive educational opportunities for individuals to confront questions of civic and personal responsibility and to learn about their own roles as moral actors in society. I have no doubt that Ken and Lisa will take advantage of the particular opportunities they will find through Princeton's alcohol education program and that other students will learn important lessons from their experience.

"Judge DeMartin has found a useful mechanism to generate some public good from a difficult and troubling set of experiences."

The charges against six students and two eating clubs in the aftermath of excessive drinking during sign-in, the subsequent Municipal Court hearings, sentence and last ule for recreation areas under the jurisdiction of the Joint Recreation Board — namely, Community Park — and an analysis of the services presently being performed by the Recreation Board and the Township and Borough engineering departments as they relate to recreation area maintenance.

According to Jack Roberts, assistant director, the Recreation Department has received several proposals already from what he describes as "very reputable" recreational planning organizations around the state to conduct the study. The Recreation Board will discuss these proposals at its next meeting, Thursday, September 22.

Asked if the Department was disappointed that the more comprehensive study it had originally recommended had been whittled down, Mr. Roberts replied, "The Recreation Department feels very strongly that no matter how small the first step is, it has to be taken. It (the proposed study) may not encompass all the questions, but it can be a good, solid, first beginning. We need the data, and the expert opinion.

"Whether the Recreation Department ought to include a parks department may not be answered at this time," Mr. Roberts continued. "But the real question is, 'where the heck are we going to put new ball fields?' This is the information we're going to get from the consultant."

Layout Important. For instance, he suggested, the Community Park playing fields may not be laid out the way they should be. Changing the layout, or taking out a baseball field, and/or adding a soccer field might produce a net gain.

Mr. Roberts also said that the Department is hoping that Grover Park will be viewed by the consultant as viable for Little League play, without lights, but lending itself to the construction of two "stadium-type" Little League fields. "We think so, but we're so close to the problem, maybe we're missing something. That's why we want a consultant."

Mr. Roberts volunteered that the problem is in part "topographical" — that there is very little land that is ideally suited to active recreation. The Van Dyke-Wight property was designated at one time for a future school, if one was needed, and subsequently for active recreation. In the meantime a large stand of evergreen trees and heavy vegetation have covered the tract.

The Sewer Operating Committee property includes areas that were active landfill during the years when the SOC operated a solid waste incineration plant. The property is not accessible by public transportation, and it is subject to odors from the nearby Stony Brook Regional Sewerage Authority plant.

Pressure Mounting. But the pressure is mounting for more playing fields — for adults as well as youth. At last week's public hearing on the Township's appropriation ordinance, parents, coaches, players and representatives from the Princeton Soccer Association, Princeton High School and the Board of Education, among others, all spoke of the lack of adequate space for the numbers involved.

James Kinney, a part-time baseball coach, told Committee he was "stunned" by the lack of facilities available to children in this community. Tom Petrone spoke of the hazards of the Community Park fields where his son had broken his ankle twice. Someone else remarked that it is "amazing" the Princeton High School girls can do so well on fields he termed a "disgrace."

Another woman pointed out that Princeton has no fields that qualify for Little League. "It's almost unAmerican," she added.

Township Mayor Kate Litvack called the study "a first step," a survey of the need, where the fields should be and how to design them. She said the second step would be a different and more difficult problem — "addressing the need for maintenance and large open spaces.

"The Township would not wish the Borough to have veto power [over open space acquisition]," Mayor Litvack said, "and yet the Borough has made it clear it may be unwilling to support open space in which it had no say as to the acquisition." She said the Township would have to "grasp that nettle" at some future time, but it would be "foolhardy" to hold up the first step.

Diet Center Counselor

Are You Sensitive to Certain Foods?

Each of our bodies are different in the way they are affected by various foods. Two factors that influence the final outcome of our food intake are metabolism and sensitivity to certain foods. We can even by affected by the time of day and our attitude at the time we eat the food. It's true that some people can eat with reckless abandon and gain very little, while others seem to gain weight at the thought of food.

At Diet Center we work closely with you to identify those foods that may be a problem for you. We can also help you to understand how exercise can increase your metabolism and how reducing stress can help you to lose your excess weight and keep it off forever. Call today, or come in for a free consultation and let us explain why Diet Center is the last diet you'll ever need.

New Restaurant

There will be an entrance from Nassau Street and from the parking lot in the rear, where an extension of the building is planned. No outdoor seating is anticipated now, but Mr. Christen said that, if the idea looked promising, there would be room for it.

There has been intense speculation about the kind of restaurant Mr. Christen would open ever since he purchased the Marv's Lounge liquor license several years ago. It was expected by many to be located in 2-4 Nassau Street, since Mr. Christen owns the building. Dating to 1882, and recently painted, the white stucco structure was the original Princeton Trust Building.

Mr. Christen said that this location has great potential for a restaurant. The area is growing quickly, and he has access to that rare commodity in Princeton: on-site parking.

CHANGING TIMES ... and storefronts. As the Wine and Game, above, closes its doors after 42 years, a new door opens, below, to house the new bistro planned by the owners of Lahiere's restaurant.

Liquor Stores

which changed peoples' drinking habits from hard liquor to wine and beer.

Mr. Brown feels the seven liquor stores within the Borough, plus one in the Township, also created a squeeze in the business.

His delivery business has decreased in the past few years. "People don't entertain the way they did," said Mr. Brown. "Also, a lot of our customers left us, whether to go up or down, I can't say," he added, "while others have gone to homes."

The closing of Cousins, which had been on Palmer Square for more than half a century, was laid to a combination of things by its manager, Chris Peterson. He cited parking problems first, but said that the road construction that has been going on around Palmer Square for some time also played a part.

He said, too, that people like to shop in larger stores with ample parking, larger selections, and lower prices. "The small store is a thing of the past."

Long-Term Customers. Mr. Peterson noted that Cousins' delivery business was largely confined to older accounts, long-term customers "who were dealing with us in the heyday of the store." He added that it was rare for a new customer to pick up the phone and ask for delivery.

Although he has been manager only five years, Mr. Peterson has become familiar with the store's history, which goes back to the days of Bayard Stockton. "During reunions, people would come and tell me how they worked here during wartime," he says. It echoed the town's history for him.

While at Cousins, he got to know his customers on a first-name basis. "They also know me," he said. "It's a very loyal clientele. The closing is very troubling for some people. It's a shame it had to end."

At Community Liquors on Witherspoon Street, owner Stanley Parnett said he was currently bothered by the road construction going on around him, but that parking was generally not a problem because a metered lot is near his store.

He has "a nice delivery business," and his store offers house charges and other services, such as glassware — things, he says, larger stores do not provide.

Mr. Parnett says that the consumption of alcohol has decreased, but that the demand remains high for beer and wine. "I've been here five years," he said, "and I've seen hard liquor sales go down. People think twice before having a big party, with the laws on drunk driving and personal liability."

Bullish on Princeton. Although he says his store "might do better," Mr. Parnett notes that his business has not gone down in the five years he has been involved in it. Indeed, he and his wife, Toby, are bullish on Princeton. They just opened a new liquor store, Community North, on Lytle Street, located in the building that formerly housed Marv's Lounge.

Mr. Parnett has his own parking lot there, and hopes that people will shop there for the convenience. "We hope they will realize that, if they need a couple of cases of beer,

New Testimony Expected In Mt. Laurel Hearing

The continuation of the court hearing before Judge Eugene Serpentelli on the Township's affordable housing program is scheduled for this Wednesday in the Ocean County courthouse.

At issue is not only whether the judge will approve the settlement agreement and site plan for the White Farm on Mercer Road, but also whether he will find the Township's affordable housing program which is expected to yield 275 "affordable" units and involves several sites in addition to the White Farm, "in compliance" with Supreme Court Mt. Laurel decisions.

At the earlier hearing on August 9, there was opportunity for only two witnesses. One was Philip Caton, an architect and planner from Trenton who reviewed the program for the judge as his court-appointed "master." The other was Alan Mallach, the Township's housing consultant who helped develop the program.

Other Township consultants and staff are expected to testify this Wednesday. They include Duggan Kimball, professional planner; Robert V. Kiser, the Township engineer; a representative of Wallace Roberts & Todd, planning consultants who drew up the site plan for the White Farm; and Gerald Muller, Planning Board attorney. Ronald Reisner of Toms River is representing the Township in this Mt. Laurel litigation.

"Friend of the Court." Henry Hill, attorney for Calton Homes, may also testify about their Mt. Laurel litigation. The Friends of Princeton Open Space, who asked for "friend of the court" status in this case, may also be heard.

In a related development, the Friends have recently written to the New Jersey Department of Environmental Protection requesting that a sewer extension permit for the proposed development of 300 units on the White Farm agreed to in the settlement agreement between Calton Homes and the Township and Planning Board be denied. In a letter signed by H. Philip Minis, vice president, the Friends identify several issues which need resolution before any development permits are approved by DEP.

According to Township Mayor Kate Litvack, the Township will be going into this hearing, some six weeks after the first, they can pull in and pull out," he says.

Another husband and wife team, Fred and Shirley Abelson, run Nassau Liquors, on Nassau Street. Mr. Abelson agreed that the remaining stores will get more business with the closing of Wine and Game and Cousins, "but I feel had it happened."

Since he started his new discounting operation, says Mr. Abelson, business has doubled — and tripled. He feels he combines discounting with the virtues of a small store, including delivery and charges. "I don't feel the day of the small liquor store is over," he asserts. "People still want service, delivery, knowledge, and expertise."

He, too, does not feel that parking is a problem, and points to the loading zone directly in front of his store as a help to his business. He is also aided, he believes, by his location across from Princeton University.

Mr. Abelson agrees that, generally, people are drinking less, and that hard liquor is no longer the drink of choice. Wine, including the light wines, are far more popular.

Over the past years, the liquor business in Princeton has had to contend with discount operations in Trenton and elsewhere, as well as with a fact of life faced by every other retail operation in town: escalating rents that place a huge dent in profit margins.

with new information to present to the judge on several issues which had been "flagged" by Mr. Caton in his report.

Mayor Litvack said that preliminary cost figures have been developed for rehabilitating housing units in the Borough in a regional contribution agreement. The agreement itself has not yet been concluded with the Borough, she said, "but we are that much closer."

Rehabilitation Also. Along with construction of 275 units on a number of sites throughout the Township, the Township intends to rehabilitate units in both Borough and Township using funds contributed by developers in lieu of constructing affordable housing on sites thought to be less suitable for such housing.

Mayor Litvack also reported that a survey has been made of the West Drive site on which it is proposed to locate 20 rental units that will be built by the Borough Housing Authority with a grant from the federal Housing and Urban Development agency. The lack of a survey had been "flagged" by Mr. Caton.

Finally, she pointed to the groundbreaking at Griggs Farm this Saturday. This development being undertaken by Princeton Community Housing in partnership with the Township will contribute 140 lower income units when completed, more than half the required 275.

Depending on how many objectors there are who wish to make their objections part of the court record, it may be possible to conclude the formal testimony this Wednesday. Judge Serpentelli may or may not issue a ruling at the end of the hearing. Mayor Litvack said that it was more likely he would ask the Township to return at certain times with additional progress reports.

Woman, 32, Is Assaulted In Franklin Apartment

A 32-year-old Princeton resident was assaulted Sunday night in a Franklin Avenue apartment where, police said, she had gone to try to straighten out a dispute that had been simmering for a week or more.

The victim had gone to see one of two males in the apartment police said. Once inside, she was struck by a blunt instrument wielded by a 15-year old juvenile. At the same time, two others in the apartment, identified by police as Shawn Hyter, 19, of Quarry Street, and India Yates, 21, of Witherspoon Street, joined in the assault.

According to Capt. Thomas Michaud, the three are alleged to have repeatedly struck the victim in the head, face and body. She was treated in the emergency room nt nearby Princeton Medical Center for

August 6th, 1988

Dear Jay's Cycles,

I recently purchased a Falcon mountain bike from you. Within two weeks it developed an especially annoying problem with the chain. I brought the bike in to your store and the chain was replaced while I waited, no questions asked. Such customer service is rare today and deserves commendation, especially when the industry has become overrun by price-gouging and poor service.

You are a pleasant exception to that trend. I look forward to doing more business with you, and you can be assured that I will recommend Jay's Cycles to my friends.

Thank you once again for your prompt and courteous service.

Sincerely,

abrasions, contusions and lacerations and later released. After police were called to the hospital, Ptl. David Dudeck and Ptl. Ronald Wohlschlegel later returned to the apartment and arrested all three suspects.

Charged with aggravated assault, Hyter and Yates were arraigned before Borough Judge Russell Annich Jr. on Monday and released that night, pending possible indictment by a Mercer County Grand Jury. The juvenile will face juvenile charges.

The investigation is being continued by Det. Ralph Terracciano.

Bicycle Thief Caught; Charged with Burglaries

A 24-year-old Trenton resident, Roosevelt Carter was transported to the Mercer County Detention Center Tuesday in lieu of $12,500 bail on two charges of burglary and one of possession of stolen property. He had been held in Township Jail for four days until his hearing Monday night before Township Judge Sydney Souter.

As related by Lt. Mario Musso, Carter was first encountered at 7:15 Friday night by a Princeton-Kingston Road resident, who, upon returning home, saw him walking out of his garage. Confronted by the resident, Carter, Lt. Musso said, asked for directions on how to catch a bus and walked off.

From there, he apparently went to another nearby home and stole a girl's bicycle valued at $250.

At 7:21, another P-K Road resident returned home and discovered Carter emerging from her garage. She called police and provided a description of the suspect. Ptl. James Strong observed the suspect riding a bike on Dodds Lane, stopped him and began to question him. Deciding he wanted more information, Ptl. Strong began to walk the suspect toward his patrol car when Carter dropped the bike and suddenly ran off.

He fled along the Kingston end of Princeton-Kingston Road for about a quarter of a mile, Lt. Musso reported, until he got tired, sat down in a driveway and surrendered to Ptl. Strong.

Two Arrests Preceded By Vehicle Violations

Motor vehicle violations led last week to two separate arrests by Borough police.

Interesting Part-Time Position Open at Town Topics

Whether you're new to Princeton, or have lived here many years, here is a part-time job opening (three days a week) that will enable you to learn more about this unique town. TOWN TOPICS, Princeton's weekly newspaper, has a position open in its front office that involves a variety of duties.

These include working with real estate advertising, paste-up of ads, some proofreading, answering the phone and other general office functions. Of course, previous experience in newspaper work would be helpful, but it's definitely not necessary. The only skill necessary is average typing.

Our salary is competitive with other part-time jobs in this area. We also offer two weeks paid vacation, Christmas bonus, sick days, parking, and participation in an excellent profit-sharing plan; and last, but not least, a friendly and informal environment. Bring an informal resume along and come in for an interview and a typing test.

to set up an appointment.

READY FOR THE SHOVELS: Formal ground-breaking ceremonies will be held this Saturday at 3 p.m. for Griggs Farm condominiums, the 280-unit development planned by Princeton Community Housing for both market buyers and "affordable" buyers and renters. The site is on Route 206 and Cherry Valley Road. From left are Marcy Crimmins, executive director of PCH; Leslie L. (Bud) Vivian, president of PCH; Harriet Bryan, co-chair of the Griggs Farm Council of PCH, and Robert W. Cawley, the other co-chair. (Suzanne Fremon photo)

spection sticker, he also asked for a computer check to see if there were any outstanding warrants against the driver. The check revealed that the driver, Tony Alexander, 23, of Butternut Row, was wanted for a warrant issued by Township police for failure to appear in court. He was arrested on that warrant.

A search of his car uncovered less than 50 grams of marijuana in a vinyl bag on the rear seat. A small quantity of the same drug was also found in Alexander's possessinn.

Borough police charged Alexander with possession of CDS, less than 50 grams, and issued summonses for possession of drugs in a motor vehicle, cracked windshield and failure to have inspection before turning him over to Township police.

Early Friday afternoon, as Ptl. Vanchoff checked out a van that was illegally doubled-parked on Chambers Street, he noticed a passenger with an open can of beer. The driver was not in the van at the time.

When the driver returned and the officer began talking to him, he observed the passenger attempt to hide something in a stack of clothing. He retrieved the item, which he described as a lock blade knife, and placed the passenger Albert McNair, 37, of Trenton under arrest, charging him with unlawful possession of a weapon.

A further check revealed that McNair was wanted by the Doylestown, Pa. Police Department on an active warrant for failure to appear in court. McNair was taken to Mercer County Jail for failure to make bail on the out-of-town warrant.

Groundbreaking Saturday For Griggs Farm Complex

Ground-breaking ceremonies for Princeton Community Housing's 280 new "Griggs Farm" condominiums on Route 206 and Hillside Avenue will be held Saturday at 3.

The public is invited to attend the brief ceremonies and a reception afterwards at the Institute for Advanced Study. Governor Thomas H. Kean, Senators Bill Bradley and Frank Lautenberg and Congressman Jim Courter, as well as State and local officials have also been invited.

Griggs Farm, on 26.5 farmland acres, is offering half its units — 140 townhouses — to the public at market prices, roughly in the $150,000 range. The remaining 140 townhouses and apartments are affordable units whose buyers and renters must meet criteria of income and family size set by Princeton Township. These units will count toward the Township's Mt. Laurel obligation to provide housing for people with low or moderate incomes.

Affordable units will be sold to those who qualify at around $55,000. Princeton Community Housing will be landlord of 93 apartments whose tenants must also qualify in terms of income and family size.

All selections of buyers and tenants — for market and affordable units alike — will be made through a lottery; however, preference will be given to families or individuals who currently live or work in the Township, followed by those who live or work in neighboring municipalities, including Princeton Borough.

Griggs Farm is the third of Princeton Community Housing's developments for moderate and low-income families and individuals, and the first to offer units for sale. The other two are Princeton Community Village, built in 1975 and Elm Court for the elderly and handicapped, completed in 1985.

Housing Applications

Preliminary applications for the lottery for Griggs Farm housing, whether market-rate units or affordable units under the Mt. Laurel guidelines, sale or rental, may be obtained at the Public Library, Township Hall, Borough Hall, Princeton Community Village and the Offices of Karl M. Light Real Estate, 247 Nassau Street.

Buyers interested in units that are for sale on the open market should fill out the application and mail it to PO Box 2993, Princeton, N.J. 08543. Those who believe they qualify for affordable units should send their completed applications to PO Box 2379, Princeton, N.J. 08543.

Note that in both categories, the zip code is not the usual Princeton zip. Applications must be postmarked no later than midnight, October 27.

Valued Jewelry Missing From Township Home

About a dozen pieces of jewelry valued at $1,900 was reported missing last week from a Snowden Lane home.

The owner told police the items, including a gold locket, gold pendant, antique watch, gold chain and silver charms, were taken from a bedroom sometime between July 1 and last Wednesday when they were discovered missing. Lt. Mario Musso reported there were no signs of any forced entry into the home.

Last week, Borough police report, someone entered an unlocked student's room in Foulke Hall on the university campus and removed $80 from a purse left on a bed.

At the time of the theft (noon to 1:30) there were a number of people in and out of the room moving things in, police said.

Parked Cars Are Looted In Separate Thefts Here

Parked cars continued to be a favorite target for thieves in Princeton.

Taken from an unlocked 1988 Mazda parked last week in the Hun School lot off Edgerstoune Road were a bag containing clothing and jewelry, six cassette tapes and a travel bag worth a combined $595. The victim is a Princeton resident.

Taken from a Ford pickup truck parked overnight on Greenbrier Row during the weekend were a 12-band equalizer valued at $380 and a 40 channel CB radio valued at $129. The victim, a resident of Greenbrier, told police he had locked his truck at 9:30 Sunday evening and discovered the driver's side door open the following morning. Police report no damage to the truck.

A similar fate befell a Borough resident who last week parked his 1987 sedan in the municipal lot on Tulane Street, locked the doors and returned the next morning to find them unlocked. Taken were a portable stereo, several cassette tapes and a power adapter worth a total $182.

Was It a Mistake Or a Theft? A visitor from Richmond, Va. arrived at the Nassau Inn last week and parked across from the entrance. She carried her suitcase across the street and left it by the door before returning to her car to lock it. When she returned, the suitcase containing clothing, jewelry and miscellaneous items worth $1,600, was gone.

At the same time, police report, a Salem limousine had dropped off a student at the Inn. He and his luggage were picked up by a white car and police believe the victim's suitcase may have been placed, by mistake, in the car. "But we aren't sure," said Capt. Thomas Michaud.

Meanwhile, the victim has not heard anything about her missing suitcase.

In one of several bicycle thefts last week, an employee of Princeton University locked her 15-speed, $350 mountain bike to itself with a cable lock but not to a rack in front of Firestone Library. The bike and lock were stolen.

A blue Sears 10-speed, valued at $100, locked to a bike stand on the ground floor of Dayton Hall on the Westminster Choir College campus, has been stolen, and a $250 Ross mountain bike was taken Friday from the Walnut Lane side of Princeton High school. Police said the student had locked the front wheel to the frame but not to a fixed object. The same day, a student attending an after school function at PHS locked the frame of his 12-speed Peugeot to a rack but this did not deter a thief from stealing the front and rear tires and wheels.

In a late report Township police received on Friday, a Schwinn silver-grey Sprint 10-speed was stolen August 13 from the Community Park pool lot. It is valued at $150.

In other thefts, a wooden, 'American Boy Choir' sign valued at $50 was stolen last week from between two posts on the Lambert Drive entrance to the school, and a Massachusetts license plate, 576-PXB, was removed overnight last week from a 1984 Buick parked in the Hibben Apartments lot off Faculty Road.

Articles of clothing worth about $180 were purchased last week at the Princeton Army-Navy Store on Witherspoon Street with a bad check. Police report that a heavyset black woman, 40 to 45, 5-0 to 5-2 tall, carrying large shopping bags, had paid for the clothing with a check drawn on a CoreState Bank from an account that had been closed several months ago.

Suspect Is Recognized, Flees, Is Apprehended

The sharp eyes of a Borough Detective led to the undoing last week of 29-year-old Ian F. Munroe.

Det. Ralph Terracciano was walking on Nassau Street near Firestone Library early Thursday evening when he recognized Munroe, for whom, he knew, there was an outstanding arrest warrant. As the officer approached, Munroe became agitated and when Det. Terracciano attempted to take him into custody, Munroe pushed him away and fled.

Det. Terracciano chased the suspect and pulled him to the ground, his arms thrashing and his legs kicking. Two University proctors in the area, and Ptl. Carol Raymond, came to Det. Terracciano's aid. Munroe was subdued, handcuffed and taken in a patrol car to headquarters where he was charged with resisting arrest and assaulting a police officer. During the struggle, Det. Terracciano pulled ligaments in his left foot.

Munroe, who gave police a Vermont address and whose last known area address was Belle Mead, was turned over to Township police. Borough police report a $500 contempt of court warrant was issued by Township police after Munroe failed to appear at a court hearing for review of his driving while intoxicated noncompliance report.

Water Ban Is Lifted By Borough Council

Council last week voted to end remaining restrictions on water use — at least temporarily. The ban had provided for odd-even use of outdoor water.

Council President Marvin Reed asked that the subject be brought up again in mid-April "If the hydrant pressure is low then, and we know that water use will go up in the summer, we may have to put a ban in effect next and subsequent summers," he said. "We could find Princeton Borough having odd-even water regulations every summer."

Commenting on the underground water mains Elizabethtown Water Company is currently installing on various streets throughout the town, Mayor Barbara Sigmund cautioned that no assurances have been received from Elizabethtown that there will be an acceptable level of pressure, even for fighting fires, after the work is completed.

Township Engineer Robert Kiser, who was attending the Council meeting, pointed out that there was a general feeling that the new mains will help maintain the water elevation in the John Street tank "However," he added, "Elizabethtown has not yet come up with a plan to meet municipal concern about pumping capacity to bring water to Princeton."

More Student Busing Agreed to by Borough

Borough Council has agreed to spend $3800 to bus seven children on Harriet and Scott to Littlebrook School. This amount is two-thirds of the cost of the busing; the Regional School Board will pick up the tab for the other one-third.

The decision to consider this area a hazardous route came after several parents living on these streets appeared before Council late last month. They explained that it was dangerous for young children to cross Hamilton Avenue near Snowden, especially since the Township decided not to place a crossing guard at Hamilton and Snowden.

The Borough is expected officially to adopt this section of Hamilton as a hazardous route at a later meeting.

Ideas on Communication From Council Candidate

To the Editor of Town Topics:

As a candidate for Princeton Borough Council, it has been my pleasure this summer to attend meetings of the Council and a number of its advisory boards. I found myself looking with a critical eye at the relationship between the Council and its constituents — what might be called the governmental quality of life. Before the political season begins, I would like to share some nonpartisan observations.

The first revelation was the complexity of municipal government. Having functioned as a legislative lobbyist for 15 years, I have seen state legislators enact laws dealing with municipal government, go home and generally forget about them; the constituents have no idea what they do. The courts also issue decisions affecting local government. But implementation of the decisions and the statutes, and the rules and regulations which accompany them, falls to the local official. And everyone sees what the municipal government is doing.

Add to this the fact that the locals are, in some cases, literally creating government anew — in the production of affordable housing, and in the attempts to control development — and it becomes clear that the practice of municipal government demands of its practitioners a degree of sophistication undreamed of only a few years ago. Worst of all, the legislature has not given local units the tools needed to deal with current problems.

In spite of the clashes between merchants and Council members related to Nassau Street road and sidewalk repairs, I have been impressed with the sensitivity displayed by the Council in its dealings with citizens of the Borough. There is an impressive degree of civility between the governors and the governed. In residential areas, home owners participated fully in decisions about street, sidewalk and curb repairs. The most disruptive work needed for installation of water pipes under Witherspoon was arranged to take place at night, in order to keep the street open to traffic during the day.

When residents of the Witherspoon–John neighborhood came to the Council with their serious problems of deteriorating street conditions and open drug sales, they clearly expected a sympathetic ear and a speedy response. They got both.

But, in my opinion, the Council fails to live up to its potential in the area of communication with the rest of us. This is, admittedly, a daunting task. Princeton is one small town pretending to be two smaller towns, so every official act is duplicated. Off to the side is the Planning Board, which importantly affects both the Township and the Borough. We have no daily newspaper; the Packet and Town Topics have excellent municipal reporters, but because of different publication dates, news reports are not chronological and are sometimes confusing. The complexity of local government precludes swift action even when a problem is identified. We are often left asking, "What happened to...?"

However, in a town as verbal and literary as Princeton, there must be a solution. The Mayor or Council president could communicate directly with us, through a periodic newpaper column. We need brief, concise reports on the status of projects. For example, whatever happened to the study of taxi service? Why has there been no progress at the corner of Nassau and Maple, where Frenchy's filling station and the transported old house stand in moornful abandonment?

How about a simple update on the affordable housing program? A chart, perhaps, with location of project, number of units, hopeful starting date, etc. Let's have more articles like Borough Engineer Carl Peters' great contribution on the road program.

As I write this in September, the Channel 27 Council Meeting schedule lists the meeting dates for July. That's pretty tacky. I'd also like to have information about garbage pickup on holidays — do I put it out, or don't I? In short, there seems to be a carelessness about communication, a lack of outreach.

I'd like to hear how others feel about these suggestions. I have enjoyed the past weeks immensely, and look forward to the discussion of these and other issues between now and November 8.

Keep Sidewalks Clear Of Shrubs and Trees

To the Editor, Town Topics:

One of the glories of Princeton is its vegetation. First-time visitors often comment on the beauty of the trees and shrubs along our residential streets. However, when property owners neglect to prune shrubs and trees along the public right-of-way, pedestrians can find the luxuriant growth to be somewhat hazardous.

With the reopening of the schools, there are many more pedestrians than during the summer months. There are places along the sidewalks near some schools where the shrubs block half the width of the sidewalks, and overhanging branches force even kindergartners to duck!

Homeowners: please check the vegetation along the sidewalks and street around your property, and if it needs trimming, trim it back!

Overruling of Annich Pleases Former Resident

To the Editor of Town Topics:

I have practiced law since 1951, and I am a specialist with an emphasis primarily on Federal Law. When I lived in Princeton from 1976 to 1983, I was active in the Princeton Community.

On one rare occurrence, I appeared before Judge Russel Annich. I wish to say, I strongly disagree with his judicial philosophies. I am very happy that Judge De Martin has overruled Judge Annich in the case involving the two Princeton University students.

School, Princeton Day School, Hun, and Stuart may register to volunteer for Safe Rides on Thursday, September 22, from 5:30 to 10 p.m. at Trinity Church.

This student-run organization needs volunteers to act as drivers, riders and dispatchers. The group also meets once a month. Registration fee is $5.

Safe Rides provides transportation for students in the Princeton area who feel they would not be able to drive safely, or who cannot get a ride with an unimpaired person. It does not promote drinking.

Reservations Rolling In For Celebration Ball

The Historical Society of Princeton will commemorate the 15th anniversary of its founding, as well as the 175th of the Borough and the 150th of the Township, at a Celebration Ball to be held on Saturday, September 24, at the Princeton Marriott Hotel. The ball is open to the public, and reply cards may be obtained by calling the Society at 921-6748.

The event will feature a champagne reception, dinner and dancing to the music of the Peter Duchin Orchestra. Tickets are $100 per person, patrons $125 per person, with proceeds going toward the Society's educational, interpretive, and preservation programs. Dress will be black tie or period costume.

Distinguished guests to be honored at the ball include Bruce H. French, a former Historical Society president whose involvement with the HSP goes back almost to its inception, and Margery Cuyler, a longtime friend of the Society along with her late husband Lewis Cuyler.

Also honored will be Barbara B. Sigmund, Mayor of the Borough of Princeton; Cathleen Litvack, Mayor of the Township; Dr. Harold T. Shapiro, President of Princeton University, and Mrs. Shapiro; and Herbert W. Hobler, Chairman of the Princeton Township 150th Anniversary Committee, and Mrs. Hobler.

Members of the Ball committee are Dorothy Plohn, Helen Westcott, Florence Peters, and Toms B. Royal.

To stimulate a greater awareness of the historic importance of this anniversary year, the Society has arranged an exhibit of period costumes to be placed in many retail store windows during September.

Chief Carnevale Responds to Madden Letter

Borough Chief Michael Carnevale this week took issue with some of the points raised in a letter last week to TOWN TOPICS by Larry Madden.

Mr. Madden has charged the press and the police, among other things, with lying, issuing incorrect information, bias, and sensationalism in connection with the report of the August 19 police execution of a search warrant at his Alexander Street apartment. Police arrested and later charged Mr. Madden with five counts of possession of stolen property.

In his letter, Mr. Madden, who was not at home at the time of the search, charged that "The law reads both parties must be present during these types of proceedings." Not so, said Chief Carnevale. "The owner of a dwelling or an apartment, when a search warrant is executed, does not have to be present." A search warrant, Chief Carnevale continued, can be left at the apartment, "or, as in this case, handed to Mr. Madden." Mr. Madden stated that he had not received a copy of the warrant until he was being released from Borough jail, some six hours after the search.

In another charge, Mr. Madden wrote that two Borough detectives had searched his car and had removed a legal inspecton decal from the windshield. "That was not a legal inspection sticker," Chief Carnevale maintained. It had been removed, he said, from the car of a seminary student and illegally placed in the Madden car.

"A sticker has the year and model of the car the inspection sticker should be applied to. Obviously, this was not Mr. Madden's."

Chief Carnevale further commented that Mr. Madden had alleged that none of the items confiscated were stolen.

On August 24, he said, a victim of some stolen property came to headquarters and identified a $400 stereo set that had been stolen May 24 from Foulke Hall on the University campus. "That stereo was found in Mr. Madden's apartment. He was charged with that offense and issued a summons for possession of stolen property."

On August 27, Chief Carvevale reported that the victim of another theft identified a $400 electric guitar and amplifier as having been stolen June 10 from a rear porch on University Place. Mr. Madden, he said, has been charged with receiving those items.

Larry Madden has also been charged, Chief Carnevale said, with possession of a metal folding chair and a GE reversible window fan, both taken from the McMillan Building on campus and identified by Princeton University officials as taken from that building.

Mr. Madden has been charged with possession of these specific stolen items and is scheduled to be heard next Wednesday, September 21, in Borough court. Meantime, the police investigation is continuing, Chief Carnevale said.

FALL INTO PRINCETON

Athletic Events, Chapel, International Center, Tours ... ... Activities for All Tastes on Princeton University Campus

There was a time, not so long ago, when Princeton residents, as a matter of course, made a point of attending Princeton University home football games on a Saturday afternoon.

Warmly dressed and carrying blankets and thermos bottles, they flocked to Palmer Stadium, and whether or not they had any connection with the University cheered lustily for the home team. Over time they learned the names that went with the numbers on the jerseys and developed their own heroes and favorites.

Changing, busier times, and the need of double-wage-earner households to use Saturdays in other ways have diminished the crowds at Palmer Stadium. Nonetheless, for the sports fan who likes action live, rather than televised, and who enjoys being physically present at contests of physical endeavor, Princeton University offers myriad opportunities to watch college athletes in action.

Football is still one of the three big drawing cards, along with basketball and ice hockey. Princeton residents may not realize that they can purchase a $50 season ticket to home football games which also entitles them to free admission to all general admission sports — baseball, soccer, lacrosse, swimming, tennis and track — throughout the year. With general admission to football games at $7, and reserved seats at $12, a $50 season ticket offers considerable savings for football alone.

Fifty dollar season tickets are also available for ice hockey and basketball and entitle the purchaser to the same free admission to other events for the remainder of the year. Season tickets are available at the ticket office in Jadwin Gym, 452-3538, or may be ordered by writing PO Box 71, Princeton 08544

Intercollegiate and Ivy League rivalries are not the only games in town. Dillon Gym, Jadwin Gym, Palmer Stadium and the baseball, soccer and lacrosse fields surrounding them are also the location for invitational, regional and national championships and tournaments, meets and matches. Information on all these events, which are often free, are listed in the Princeton Weekly Bulletin.

Dillon Gym Permit.

Some Princetnn University athletic facilities are available at certain times to the Princeton resident. For an annual fee of $250, members of the public are entitled to the use of Dillon Gym for basketball, squash and swimming, as well as use of the equipment in the health fitness room. The Dillon Gym permit also entitles the holder to use the indoor track at Jadwin Gym and the outdoor track at Palmer Stadium for jogging, and Baker Rink for recreational skating, at times when these facilities are not in use by the University.

According to Sam Howell, associate director of athletics for intercollegiate sports and general administration, some 319 individuals took out Dillon Gym permits last year. Some were alumni and University consultants, for whom the fee is $225 a year, or faculty, staff and family members, who pay $55. Spouses of students may get a Dillon permit for $22. The permit is availahle through the Jadwin Gymnasium ticket office, 452-3538. The hours for which each activity is open to the public are posted.

Members of the public may use the Jadwin Gym tennis courts for $8 an hour per person. Playing with a student, faculty member, or staff costs $3 an hour per person, and rises to $5 an hour per person when playing with alumni, consultants or corporate associates.

Ice is created in Baker Rink in mid-October and maintained through mid-March. Recreational skating is available to the public Friday nnd Saturday evenings and on Sunday afternoons at a cost of $3 per person per session for adults and $2.50 per person per session for children. Public skating is subject to the rink not being used for University purposes, and hours are posted.

Adopt a Sport

Just as there is a supportive 'Friends of' organization for the University library and for art, music and theater, there are 'Friends' of every sport at Princeton. Membership is made up of alumni who played the sport in their undergraduate years, parents of present varsity players and some townspeople. These organizations provide material assistance by purchasing items outside the regular Athletic Department budget, such as video tape recorders or a pitching machine for softball practice.

Depending on the leadership and degree of interest, they lobby for improvements. The improvements to Baker Rink and the new Olympic-sized swimming pool complex presently under construction are in part the result of Friends lobbying and fund raising. For information on how to become a Friend of a particular sport, call Bob Myslik, director of athletics, or Eleanor Edinger, his administrative assistant at 452-3535.

MURRAY-DODGE HALL consists of two buildings joined by a cloister, each a memorial to a Princeton graduate who died young. Shown here is the Murray Hall portion, once used for weekday chapel services but, since the 1920's, the home of Theatre Intime. Dodge Hall houses the offices of the chapel deans and the denominational chaplains, as well as student religious and social service organizations and the International Center. (Jean Gwaltney photo)

Chapel Congregation

The traditional community Thanksgiving Service brings Princeton residents in great numbers to the Princeton University Chapel for a service organized by the Princeton Clergy Association. So do the Christmas Eve and Christmas day services, and the Easter liturgy.

However, throughout the year there is a core congregation of about 250 people, other than students and faculty, who attend Sunday morning worship service, which is at 11 during the academic year and 10 during the summer. They may be drawn by the soaring Gothic architecture and stained glass windows, or the roster of preachers from many different denominations, or the quality of the music in a cathedral setting.

Or they may like the fact that there are no membership requirements, no committee meetings, rummage sales or Christmas bazaars — just worship, with a coffee hour afterwards. There is also a small, ungraded Sunday school for ages 5 to 11 run by two University students of differing faith backgrounds, and nursery care for up to age 5.

There is a Chapel Council, composed of about 20 townspeople, who meet once a year to reflect on the services and the life of the congregation. There is also a Friends of the Princeton University Chapel, a much larger organization, which with its gifts and presence supports the work of the dean and assistant deans. Thanks in large measure to the Friends, the Chapel organ is going to be rebuilt.

The Rev. Sue Anne Steffey Morrow, a Methodist, is acting Dean of the Chapel, and the Rev. Floyd Tompkins Jr., a Baptist, is assistant dean. Guest preachers this fall include the Rev. Frederick Buechner, well-known author of fiction as well as collections of his sermons, on October 9, and the Rev. Ernesto Cardenal, Nicaragua's Minister of Culture, October 23.

Members of the community sing in the Princeton University Chapel Choir each Sunday, along with undergraduate and graduate student members. Prospective choir members should call Prof. Walter Nollner at 452-3058.

International Connections

For the Princeton resident who enjoys meeting people of different countries and cultures, the International Center at Princeton University offers a host of opportunities. Located on the ground floor of Murray-Dodge Hall, below the Chapel deans' offices and connected by a walkway to Murray Theater, the International Center is headed by Paula Chow and staffed by volunteers.

Its purpose is to help the 1,000 foreign students and visiting scholars from more than 50 countries feel more at home during their stay here. The Center holds a weekly informal luncheon, often with an ethnic menu, which is open to all international students. It also coordinates opportunities for the visitors to speak about their countries at area schools and organizations and sponsors an International Festival, a multicultural "show and tell," in the spring.

Volunteers meet with small groups of foreign students and scholars to tutor or offer practice in English conversation. The Center also hosts a family program involving about 100 families in the Princeton area who invite the students and visiting scholars to their homes for weekend meals and holiday festivities. According to Mrs. Chow, this is a very rewarding experience for the host family and very much appreciated by the visitors.

THE PRINCETON UNIVERSITY CHAPEL was dubbed a "two million dollar protest against materialism" when it was constructed in the 1920's. However, it was the place to which townspeople and the university community came spontaneously following the assassinations of President Kennedy and of Martin Luther King Jr. This view is of the south entrance, opposite McCosh Hall. (Mahlon Lovett photo)

The U-Store Offers the Best in Contemporary Fiction:

Rock Springs. Richard Ford. Vintage Contemporaries. Paperbound.
In his first book since the highly-acclaimed The Sportswriter (called one of the "best novels of 1986" by Time Magazine) Richard Ford confirms his place as one of America's most luminous and lyrical storytellers. "An enormously versatile writer, a perfect ventriloquist who achieves his end in voices that vary from swamp-deep to mirror flat ... Rock Springs is cause for celebration." — Village Voice Literary Supplement.

Breathing Lessons. Anne Tyler. Random House. Clothbound.
Here Anne Tyler, the author of the best-selling and universally praised The Accidental Tourist, gives us a wonderful novel in which she shows us all there is to know about a marriage: the expectations, the disappointments; the way children can create storms in a family; the way that wife and husband can fall in love all over again; the way that everything — and nothing — changes.

Volunteers also staff the office on a regular basis and they sell UNICEF cards and gifts in November and December. They also help out at the social events, or as Mrs. Chow puts it, "help us be hospitable" to foreign students and visitors. To become involved is to make new friends from around the world. For information call Vera Dowd at 896-1261, or the International Center at 452-5006.

Campus Experience

The Princeton University campus itself, with its landscaped plantings, long allees and cloistered quadrangles, is open to the community. There are four little booklets, available for $1 apiece at the Princeton University Store, which are self-guided tours of notable aspects of the campus. They are The Trees of Princeton University: An arboreal tour of the campus; The Gargoyles of Princeton University: A grotesque tour of the campus; The Spires of Princeton University: An architectural tour of the campus, and The Sculpture of Princeton University, describing the John B. Putnam Jr Collection which is dotted about the campus.

The Orange Key Guide Service offers full-fledged tours of the campus Monday through Saturday at 10, 11, 1:30 and 3:30, and on Sunday at 1:30 and 3:30. Tour guides are students. For information call 452-3603.

One of the special spots on campus is Prospect Gardens, behind the University faculty club, which is in continuous, vigorous bloom from May to November, unlike the average home garden. New plants supplanting the old, and the artful mixing of bulbs, perennials and annuals must be the secret. Prospect itself can be rented for wedding receptions, although those who have a bona fide University connection have first priority.

In the summer months, Nassau Street office workers and patrons of its take-out food establishments often take their lunch to sit under the shade of the trees on the front campus. Princeton residents can also find a good, quick, inexpensive meal cafeteria-style at the Chancellor Green Student Center, to the east of Nassau Hall. The hours are 7:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. during the academic year and somewhat shorter during the summer.

The cafeteria on the top floor of New South building near the Dinky railroad station is also open to the public. Its hours are 7:30 to 1:45. These two eating places are the only ones on campus that accept cash; other campus dining facilities accept only University-issued cards.

Princeton Plasma Physics Laboratory

Finally, although located away from the main campus and in another township, the Princeton Plasma Physics Laboratory welcomes visitors. The Plasma Physics Lab is the site of research funded by the federal Department of Energy toward developing nuclear fusion reactions as an energy source. A method of transforming mass into energy, fusion involves the joining of light atoms such as those of hydrogen.

Fission, by contrast, involves the splitting of heavy atoms such as uranium to release the internal energy that holds the atom together. Fusion, the energy source of the sun and the stars, is believed to have advantages over fission as an energy source because it relies on fuels that are in abundant supply and available to all and it will not cause meltdowns or other environmental disasters.

The Princeton Plasma Physics Laboratory (PPPL) has been the home of several distinct generations of magnetic fusion experiments leading up to the Tokamak Fusion Test Reactor. Some 5,000 visitors a year tour PPPL in groups varying in size from five to 200. Secondary schools and colleges provide the majority of visitors, but other groups come as well, and the tours are free. They may be arranged by calling 683-2750.

Chamber Symphony Bid To Play in Middle East

The Chamber Symphony of Princeton has been invited to perform in Amman, Jordan and Cairo, Egypt in October. A limited number of "Friends" may accompany the orchestra on a two-week tour of the two countries. The deadline for reservations is Tuesday.

The Queen Noor Al Hussein Foundation has invited the orchestra and conductor Mark Laycock to give a private concert at the Royal Cultural Center in Amman on October 26. A public concert with the Symphonic Orchestra of Jordan will follow on October 28, with Mr. Laycock conducting. Proceeds from both concerts will benefit the newly established National Conservatory of Music in Jordan.

On October 31, at the invitation of Eygpt's undersecretary of state for foreign cultural relations, the Chamber Symphony will perform in Cairo at the recently completed Cairo Opera House. Other groups invited to participate in the events to dedicate the opera house include the Vienna Philharmonic, the Paris Opera Ballet and Mummenschanz.

According to Liz Chang, a member of the Chamber Symphony Board, most of the transportation cost is being underwritten by the host countries. To raise funds to pay artists' fees for the concerts, 15 to 20 "Friends" are being invited to accompany the orchestra at $3,000 apiece, including a $500 tax-deductible contribution to the orchestra.

Friends will attend the concerts and receptions and also have special tours in both Jordan and Egypt arranged by Academic Travel Abroad. The tour will depart Sunday, October 23, and return Sunday, November 6. It includes a four-day cruise on the river Nile.

The deadline for reservations is September 20. For more information, call Sandra Davis, Chamber Symphony general manager at 497-0020.

22, at noon at 101 Carnegie Center in West Windsor, behind the Hyatt.

The keynote address will be "The Community's Role in Prevention of Social and Family Problems." Janet Rosenweig Smith, project specialist with the New Jersey Department of Human Services' Office of Evaluation, Analysis and Strategic Planning, and Robert D. Prunetti, Mercer County Freeholder, will be the featured speakers.

The Council's annual meeting will also include the presentation of the 1988 Citation for Distinguished Volunteer Service and the election of directors and officers. Nominations from the floor may be made, provided they have been submitted in writing by September 16 to the Secretary, Board of Directors, P.O. Box 298, Princeton Junction, 08550-0298.

The Council of Community Services is a nonprofit, community-based human services planning organization serving 13 communities in Mercer, Middlesex and Somerset Counties. The Council is funded by the United Way-Princeton Area Communities and act as its planning associate.

The public is invited. For further information to make reservations for the annual meeting, call 924-5865 or 799-6033.

Courses in Japanese Due For High School Students

The Princeton Community Japanese Language School will offer a class in beginning Japanese every Sunday from 1 to 4:30 p.m. in Palmer Hall on the Princeton University campus. It will begin October 2. The class is for high school foreign language credits.

Instructor is Tsuneko Kojima, who teaches at Rutgers University and the Japan Society in New York.

For more information, call Sakiko Ono at 275-8444 or Hiroko Sherwin at 921-2285.

Picnic Is Planned For Stuart Anniversary

Stuart Country Day School will hold its traditional beginning of the year picnic Sunday. The date, September 18, is exactly 25 years since Stuart first opened in 1963.

When the 442 students arrived for the beginning of classes last week, they were greeted by flowers, green and silver balloons and a sign proclaiming the 25th year. Just before school opened there were panel discussions for faculty, staff and administrators on "Stuart of Yesterday" and "Stuart of Today."

There were reminiscences from Sister Joan Kirby RSCJ, Stuart's first headmistress, Sheila Scott, Class of 1967, a member of Stuart's first ninth grade; Millie Harford, a founding mother of the school and its first pre-school teacher; and James J. Harford, member of the first Stuart Advisory Board.

Registration Under Way For Platform Tennis

The Recreation Department is organizing its platform tennis leagues for the 1988-89 season. There are several different opportunities available.

There is the competitive State league play for women, for which practices are held on Mondays and matches are scheduled for Tuesday. This league runs from October 1 to February 28.

There is also women's round robin intramural play. Teams are formed according to ability and scheduled preference. The teams meet regularly and play among themselves in a recreational atmosphere. Day and evening times are available between October 17 and March 24.

Men's platform tennis league, involving recreational and competitive play, meets either Tuesday, Wednesday or Thursday evenings depending on ability. Teams play against THUMBS UP ON 25-YEAR POLICE CAREER: Lt. David T. Potts on Friday — his last day at work — flashes the thumbs up sign on the culmination of a 25-year career with the Township Police Department. On his desk, a calendar marks down the final five days. Lt. Potts summed up his career by saying, "I'm glad I made it. That's an accomplishment for me." He plans to devote some time to two of his hobbies — oil painting and gardening — before sifting through job offers. Lt. Potts joined the department November 15, 1963, the same day as Det. David G. Wilbur who retired earlier this month.

Fall Clean-up in the Township

Fall clean-up will begin in Township Monday, September 26, and continue until completed, with collection of items from every street on a one-time basis. The Public Works Department expects the clean-up to take 10 days.

Materials to be picked up must be put out ready for collection prior to 8 a.m., Monday, September 26. Residents are asked not to put anything at the curb before this date.

Garden and yard debris, such as tree branches, twigs, leaves, lawn debris and grass clippings will be picked up. Household items such as furniture and appliances will also be picked up at this time. Leaves, grass rakings and other biodegradable yard debris should be raked or placed at the edge of the road for pick-up by the Township's "mechanical claw." They should not be bagged as was required in previous years.

Tree branches, brush and twigs should be securely tied in bundles not more than 12 inches in diameter and four feet in length. Rope or twine should be used, not wire. Large branches must be stacked in lengths not exceeding four feet. These items should be separated from the leaves and grass rakings and placed in the right-of-way but not in the street.

The Public Works Department warns that items which are put out that do not meet these requirements will not be picked up.

Yard debris will be recycled, either through composting or the chipping of branches, brush and twigs. Wood chips that result from the clean-up operation are stored in the Community Park North parking lot, near the intersection of Route 206 and Mountain Avenue. The wood chips are available free to Township residents for landscaping purposes and may be picked up at the parking lot during daylight hours seven days a week.

each other in league settings. The dates are October 18 to March 24.

The Recreation Department is also interested in starting a couples league if there is sufficient interest. League matches would probably be played on weekend afternoons or Monday evenings. Matches will be scheduled against teams of equal ability whenever possible.

Residents and non-residents playing in any of these leagues must purchase season tickets at the Recreation office weekdays between 9 and 5. The phone number is 921-9480.

Dates Are Announced For Annual Apple Day

Terhune Orchards will hold its 12th annual Apple Day weekend Saturday and Sunday, October 1 and 2, from 10 to 5.

What began as a one-day fall harvest celebration has grown into a two-day festival attended by some 14,000 visitors from all over. The emphasis, however, is still on families and farming. Terhune Orchards is owned and managed by Pam and Gary Mount as a working family farm, and the invitation to Apple Day is extended to all ages and especially to families to experience life on a farm as the fall apples are gathered in.

Participants can try their hand at farm work, picking their own apples and pumpkins, taking a hay ride on horse- or tractor-drawn wagons. They can help make cider on a hand-crank press, or feed the farm animals and treat the children to pony rides. A mountain of hay has been stacked in the hay barn just for children to jump in.

Buddy the Clown will be on hand, and there will be continuous live country music as entertainment. Cliff Sunflower, "the honeybee man," will tell tales and give demonstrations of bees and pollination. The orchards and barn will be full of crafts and crafters. Dolls, dried flowers, woven and knitted goods, woodcraft, pottery, potpourri, baskets and wreaths are among the items that will be available.

Freshly pressed hot and cold cider, hot dogs and Terhune Orchards fried apple rings will be available along with slices of apple or pumpkin pie and cider doughnuts. A 150-pound pig will be roasted over an open pit for slicing into pork sandwiches.

The apple building behind the farmhouse will be open with helpers selling maple syrup, honey, jams, jellies and Apple Day t-shirts in all sizes.

New Jersey wine growers will be at Apple Day for the first time this year. Wines from Alba, La Follette and Mattarazzo Four Sisters Winery will be present for tasting and for sale. Painting pumpkins, bobbing for apples and making a scarecrow are some of the other activities available.

Admission is $2, with

Sentences

week's appeal had drawn considerable attention from the media.

Mr. Otis maintained the Borough police had improperly charged the two students, who considered themselves scapegoats — unjustly charged for a "150-year tradition of serving alcohol to new sign-ins."

Judge DeMartin, in overturning the jail sentences, said that he was accepting the recommendation of Mercer County Prosecutor Paul T. Koenig, who told the court that he would be satisfied that justice would be served if the two students were given community service sentences to perform.

Attorney Otis confirmed that he and Mr. Koenig had agreed not to appeal the conviction if the court accepted the Prosecutor's suggestion of probation, community service and a suspended sentence.

Outside the courtroom, Mr. Simpler and Ms. Napolitano, both seniors, commented they believed the sentences were justified and they hoped the incident would force others to look at the problem of student alcohol abuse. Said Simpler, "No longer can the University look the other way; no longer can the Borough look the other way."

Ms. Napolitano, a resident of Geneva, N.Y., was social chairperson of the Charter Club. She is still angry, she said, because she felt she had acted responsibly during sign-in festivities. Mr. Simpler, a resident of Rehoboth Beach, Del. was president of the club.

More of a Deterrent. After Judge DeMartin handed down his ruling, Mr. Koenig said he believed that probation and public service would have more of a deterrent effect then if the two defendants had gone to jail. People around the incident, he felt, were focusing more on the jail sentence and not on the harm that led to the conviction.

Like Mr. Simpler, he also said that he hoped the incident would force the University to act in a responsible manner in dealing with alcohol and substance abuse problems.

Topics of the Town

children under age 3 admitted free. Apple Day will be held rain or shine. Parking will be at Educational Testing Service on Carter and Rosedale roads or at Squibb on Route 206 and Carter Road. Shuttle buses will make free, frequent runs between the parking areas and the orchards.

18th-Century Furniture Topic at Rockingham

The Rockingham Association will sponsor the second in its Rockingham Lectures, a series dealing with aspects of 18th-century life and society.

The series will be held once again at Rockingham, Washington's headquarters on Route 518 in Rocky Hill, and admission is free. Questions and additional comments from the audience are welcomed.

The first lecture will be held on Sunday at 2 p.m. It will be given jointly by Ben and Marilyn Crane, residents of Rocky Hill and experts in the field of 18th-century furniture. The Cranes will deal with the decorative and social aspects of 18th-century pieces, with an emphasis on the furniture at Rockingham.

Additional lectures will feature Elizabeth Carrick, who has studied the Berrien family (original owners of Rockingham) in considerable depth; Hap Heins, revolutionary War scholar and historian; and Claire Jacobus, whose special interest is 18th-century folk song and balladry.

Openings Available At Nursery School

The Presbyterian Cooperative Nursery School has limited openings in its three- and five-year-old classes. The school is held in Nassau Presbyterian Church.

It offers parents an opportunity to be a part of their child's first educational experiences away from home. Hours are from 9:30 to 11:45 different days of the week with extended hours available. There are scholarships available for those who are eligible.

For information call the registrar, Christine Morrison at 443-5543.

Seminar on Autism To Be Held This Month

An Autism Information Forum will be held September 26 from 10 a.m. to noon at 123 Franklin Corner Road, Suite 215, Lawrenceville. It is sponsored by the New Jersey Council of Organizations and Schools for Autistic Children and Adults.

Ariela Gross

civil rights was a kind of shock. It made me aware of how important it was to become involved."

She kept to her resolve during her four years at Harvard, where she graduated magna cum laude in June, 1987. While in Cambridge, she worked to coordinate student registration in the Boston area during the Mondale-Ferraro campaign, and then spent a year and a half doing nonpartisan voter registration in a program run by the Public Interest Research Group (PIRG).

This experience helped her land the job of assistant student coordinator when she joined the Dukakis campaign in August, 1987, just four months after Governor Dukakis entered the race. She later became student coordinator.

Her interest in the campaign began when Governor Dukakis gave the commencement address at her graduation from Harvard. Miss Gross, who had previously thought of him as "boring," was impressed by the man and what he said. After spending the summer teaching math to inner-city youngsters in an Upward Bound project in Amherst, Mass., she joined the campaign.

Getting Out the Vote. In addition to organizing events and campus visits, her job includes one of the most critical areas in any election: getting out the vote. She is in constant touch with student coordinators in each state, and has found meeting people from all over the country both exciting and educational. Last week, to her delight, she received a card and a gift — an Okie dictionary — from the student coordinator in Oklahoma.

Miss Gross has traveled much during the past year, including trips to New Hampshire, Michigan, California, Tennessee, and Atlanta. She hopes to do an event at Princeton University with Andrea Dukakis, who graduated from the University in 1987, and thinks she can get home for a visit at that time.

Miss Gross's parents, David and Shula Gross, live on Hartley Avenue. Her father is a professor of physics at Princeton University and her mother a professor of statistics at CUNY. Her sister, Elisheva, is a sophomore at Princeton High School.

"I come from a family that discussed issues all the time at the dinner table," said Miss Gross. During high school, she worked with the Coalition for Nuclear Disarmament and was editor of the Princeton High School newspaper, The Tower.

"We always made an effort to cover international issues at The Tower," she recalled. "We thought of ourselves as forward looking."

Her high school years also included a job scooping ice cream at Thomas Sweet.

Miss Gross enjoyed living in Princeton: "It is a small town, where you know what's going on, and it has been very supportive," she says. "Even my sister's friends signed the petition to support me when I wrote the letter to President Reagan," she recalls. "And they were only nine years old."

PHS a Great School. She also has very good feelings about the high school. "Looking back now, I think it's a great school," she said, "especially after going to Harvard, where so many had gone to p'p school. I really think a public high school is a better experience than a private school. The academics were as good as a private school at Princeton High School, but you got a broader social experience."

Miss Gross works seven days a week, 12 hours a day, to convince students to vote for Governor Dukakis. She feels that students are a more progressive group than young people as a whole, but is aware they have proven volatile in the past. A large number consider themselves independent, and she hopes these independents will vote for the Massachusetts Governor because, "on the issues, Democrats come closer to what students are looking for."

She said she has seen incredible enthusiasm from students during the past year, as well as impressive commitment. "Several hundred volunteered to come to Atlanta, and they helped us put on workshops there," she said.

Miss Gross majored in history and literature at Harvard. She has been accepted into graduate school at Stanford University, but plans to take a year off between the campaign and school. She is currently considering a joint history and law degree, but is concerned about the eight years that will take. "I will take either law or history, or both," she says. "I haven't figured it out yet."

Her plans may take her to Japan later this year, where her boyfriend is studying in Kyoto on a year's scholarship. If she does go there, she would like to get a job.

Her future will contain politics in some form. "I can't see running for office myself," she says, "but I can't imagine not being involved or active."

OBITUARIES

Edward P. Burke, 58, general manager of the Princeton Packet for many years, died suddenly September 12 at Princeton Medical Center. He was a resident of Kendall Park.

Born in Wilkes Barre, Pa., he graduated from Marquette University in 1952 with a degree in journalism. He served as a lieutenant in the U.S. Army during the Korean conflict.

Mr. Burke joined the Packet in 1957 as news editor, following a two-year stint at the Nazareth, Pa., Item. He was named news editor and also business manager later that year and became general manager in 1958. At the time of his death he was director of planning.

He was a member of the Franklin Park Council Knights of Columbus No. 6345.

Surviving are his wife, Mary Henahan Burke; four sons, Martin M. of Hopewell, Patrick E. of Rochester, N.Y., Gerald F. of Somerset, and John F. Burke, at home; four daughters, Mary Ann Luschinski of Hamilton Township, Eileen M., Kathleen and Michele A. Burke, all at home; two brothers, Joseph of Philadelphia and Francis of Phoenixville, Pa.; and a grandson.

The funeral will be held Thursday at 9 from the M.J. Murphy Funeral Home, 616 Ridge Road, at the corner of West New Road, Monmouth Junction. Mass of Christian Burial will be celebrated at 10 at St. Augustine of Canterbury Church, Henderson Road, Kendall Park. Burial will be in Princeton Cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home this Wednesday from 2 to 4 and from 7 to 9. Memorial contributions may be made to Citizens for Independent Living, PO Box 600, Kingston 08528.

Frederick S. Osborne, 85, director of the office of public information at Princeton University for 17 years and former editor of the Princeton Herald, died September 10 at his home in Philadelphia.

A resident of Princeton from 1920 to 1972, Mr. Osborne lived in Savannah, Ga. for eight years before moving to Philadelphia in 1980. He was born in Newark, graduated from Newark Academy in 1920 and from Princeton University with the Class of 1924. As an undergrduate he was an editor and chairman of the Daily Princetonian.

Mr. Osborne began working for the Princeton University administration in the Office of Public Information in 1926 and was its director from 1928 to 1945. Acting editor of the Princeton Alumni Weekly from 1942 to 1949, he was associate director of the Department of Public Relations from 1945 to 1949 and Assistant Secretary of Princeton University from 1949 to 1952.

Mr. Osborne was associated in various capacities with the Princeton Herald, a weekly community newspaper, from the first issue in 1923 to its merger with the Princeton Packet in 1967, including the editorship from 1962 to 1967. He was also secretary/treasurer of the Princeton Herald Inc., a publisher and printer, from 1925 to 1964 and president from 1966 to 1971. He served as a contributing editor with the Princeton Packet from 1967 to 1971 and was the author of many magazine and newspaper articles.

———

He was a member of the Nassau Club, the Princeton Club of New York City and the Oglethorpe Club of Savannah, Ga. He was founder and first publicity chairman of the Princeton Community Chest; former president of the Princeton Tuberculosis Society; former secretary/treasurer of the Princetom Boy Scout Council and former member of the board of the Historical Society.

He served as secretary of his Princeton University class from 1929 to 1934 and again from 1969 to 1974.

Surviving are his wife, Katherine Mitchell Osborne; a son, Frederick S. Osborne Jr. of Philadelphia; a daughter, Lydia Sferra of Pennington; and five grandchildren.

A memorial service will be held in Princeton at a later date. Contributions may be made to the Princeton University Class of 1924 Scholarship Fund, Box 291, Princeton 08544-0291.

Adrienne Easton Snyderman, 53, a family therapist and social worker at Family Service Princeton, died September 10 at the George Washington Hospital in Washington, D.C., while on a trip with her husband. She lived at 24 Balcort Drive.

Born in Scarsdale, N.Y., Mrs. Snyderman lived in New Rochelle, N.Y., before moving to Princeton 15 years ago. She attended Smith College and was a graduate of Barnard College with a bachelor of arts degree. She was also a graduate of Rutgers University School of Social Work with a master's degree in social work.

She was a member of the Smith College Club, the Westchester Jewish Federation, and Congregation Beth Chaim in West Windsor, where she was also chairman of the caring committee.

Surviving are her husband, Dr. Reuven K. Snyderman; a son and daughter-in-law, David and Frances Nordenschild of Cranbury; a daughter and son-in-law, Carol and Russell Moser of Boston; a sister, Nancy Wade of Los Angeles, Calif.; and a grandson, Russell D. Moser of Boston. She is also survived by Peri, Lisa and Scott Snyderman.

The service was scheduled to be held Wednesday, September 14 at 10:30 at Congregation Beth Chaim, Village Road, West Windsor, Rabbi Eric Wisnia officiating. Memorial contributions may be made to Congregation Beth Chaim.

Louis J. Paulino, 79, died September 10 at Princeton Medical Center.

Born in Princeton, Mr. Paulino was a lifelong resident. He attended St. Paul School and retired in 1969 as superintendent after 43 years with the United States Postal Service in Princeton. He later worked at Hulit's Shoe Store for more than five years.

———

Surviving are his wife, Margaret McCloskey Paulino; a son, Robert L. Paulino of Hamilton Square; a daughter, Joan, of Princeton; and three grandchildren.

Mass of Christian Burial was celebrated at St. Paul Roman Catholic Church with burial in Princeton Cemetery.

Helen Ryczkowski Fitzgibbon, 66, of Pennington, died September 10 at Jefferson Medical Center in Philadelphia.

Mrs. Fitzgibbon was born in Clifton and was a longtime area resident. She was a retired sales representative for Princeton Microfilm Corp. and a member of the Echo Club.

Wife of the late Michael Fitzgibbon, and mother of the late Arlene Fitzgibbon, she is survived by two sisters, Jean Labowicz of Lawrenceville and Margie Satterthwaite of Somers Point; and a brother, Joseph Ryczkowski.

Mass of Christian Burial was scheduled to be celebrated this Wednesday, September 14 at St. Hediwg Roman Catholic Church, Ewing with burial in the parish cemetery. Memorial contributions may be made to the Aemrican Heart Association, Mercer County Branch, 3490 Route 1, Princeton 08540.

To all qualified choral singers in the Princeton area:

In April of 1987, 35 members of the community participated in two performances of the Berlioz "Requiem" in Richardson Auditorium (with the Princeton University Glee Club and the Princeton University Chapel Choir), under my direction, in a way that did not interfere with their regular memberships in church choirs and community choruses. The results were very successful, so we gathered a similar group for planned performances of the Brahms "Triumphlied" this last February. Unfortunately, my illness caused us to postpone the performances, and thus I am renewing my invitation in this published letter.

On February 24 and 25, 1989, I will be conducting the combined Glee Club and Choir in a program that will include the "Triumphlied." This is a major work by Brahms, about a half-hour long, for large double chorus and large orchestra. Because of the difficulty of raising the huge forces (much like the Berlioz), it is rarely performed, and I do not remember reading or hearing about performances in the major performing centers during my lifetime. It is, nonetheless, a splendid, brilliant work, precisely the sort that should be found on the programs of performing organizations in university communities.

As with the Berlioz, the performances will take place in Richardson Auditorium, under excellent circumstances. The presence of the Brahms on the program will, even on this one point alone, make the concerts distinctive musical events. To supplement the Glee Club and Choir, I would like to gather about 50 additional singers, selected by audition from the community. The additional chorus will rehearse no more than once a week during the major part of the preparation, and will probably begin its rehearsals in early October. Conflicts will be avoided with the rehearsals of other musical organizations, as implied in the first paragraph.

If you are an experienced soprano, alto, tenor or bass, and if you are interested (at the very least in finding out more about this proposal), please phone Mrs. Custis Clark at 452 - 3048 on weekdays. She will answer any questions you may have, and assign you an audition time if you wish to proceed further. Many thanks.

Sincerely yours,

Walter Nollner

News of the THEATRES

Comedy 'Born Yesterday' Opens McCarter Theatre

Garson Kanin's comedy Born Yesterday will open McCarter Theatre's 1988-89 season on September 27 with previews Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday, September 27 through 29. Opening night will be Friday, September 30, with performances through October 16.

Born Yesterday concerns itself with the 1940's Washington, D.C. political scene. In order to fit in with proper society, junk dealer turned self-made millionaire Harry Brock (Jim Baker) hires a young journalist, Paul Verrall (Edmund Davys) to teach his dizzy girlfriend Billie Dawn (Deborah Jeanne Culpin) a thing or two. A quick learner, Billie Dawn gives her racketeer sugar daddy a civics lesson, she refuses to be a part of the ensuing shenanigans, her own remarkable power emerges.

Born Yesterday will mark the McCarter debut of guest director Richard Risso. Mr. Risso has gathered regional credits both as an actor and director. His associations include Pacific Conservatory for the Performing Arts, Milwaukee Repertory Theatre and Oregon Shakespeare Festival.

Jim Baker makes his McCarter debut as Harry Brock, the ruthless millionaire. Mr. Baker will be creating the role for a second time, having appeared in the Alhambra Dinner Theatre in Jacksonville, Fla., under the direction of Mr. Risso. Mr. Baker has been a member of Actors Theatre of Louisville, American Conservatory Theatre in San Francisco, Milwaukee Repertory Theatre.

His most recent credits include Sancho Panza in Mon of La Mancha and Victor Franz in Arthur Miller's The Price at Colorado's Denver Center Theatre Company.

Deborah Jeanne Culpin will portray the lovable Billie Dawn. Ms. Culpin studied at the Cincinnati Conservatory of Music and the British Academy of Dramatic Arts in London, and received her M.F.A from Ohio University in professional actor's training. Her dreams of the new vaudeville led her to Guanajuato, Mexico to La Estudia Busqueda de Pantomima where she created an original one-woman show entitled "Out of Athens." Ms. Culpin was last seen at McCarter Theatre in Stepping Out.

Playing Billie Dawn's love interest, Paul Verrall, will be Edmund Davys, returning to the McCarter stage for the second time. His last appearance at McCarter was in Uncle Vanya directed by Georgi Tovstonogov. He was featured in the Broadway production of Crucifer of Blood with Paxton Whitehead and Glenn Close.

Jay Doyle will play the corrupt politician, Senator Norval Hedges. This is Mr. Doyle's tenth season with McCarter. He has appeared in 24 productions ranging from St. Joan to A Christmas Carol.

Pegge Winslow will play Mrs. Hedges. She was a standby in Horowitz and Mrs. Washington, the last play directed by the late Joshua Logan, and appeared in the national touring company of Moss Hart's Light Up the Sky with Viviane Blaine.

Returning to McCarter Theatre after a seven-year hiatus will be G Wood in the role of Ed Devery, legal advisor to Harry Brock. Mr. Wood has appeared in ten productions on Broadway and Off-Broadway. His regional credits include the American Conservatory Threatre, Milwaukee Repertory, Mark Taper Forum, Denver Center Theatre Company among others.

Acting for school students is a 10-week course designed to acquaint the young actor with the use of his or her voice and body through interaction with other actors, movement, vocal exercises, improvisations and scene work. Scott Miller is the instructor. The class will be held Saturdays from 10 to 12:30 from October 1 through December 10.

Performance technique for ages 18 and up is an intensive 10-week course devoted to the development of the actor's process — an exploration of how actors prepare themselves for a role. A variety of ideas and methodologies will be experienced so that each actor will be able to develope a coherent sustained approach to acting both in rehearsal and in performance.

Laurie Huntsman is the instructor for this course which meets Mondays from 7 to 9:30 from September 26 through November 28.

Playwrighting for ages 16 and up will be taught be Bruce E. Rodgers on Thursdays from 7 to 9:30 p.m. September 29 through Decemher 8. This workshop will push participants to explore their own creativity as playwrights. Classes are participatory and are designed to investigate one's own expression through the art of playwrighting.

Scene study for ages 18 and up will concentrate in depth on character development and setting goals for individual students. Previous training and/or experience is required. Frank Kuhn is the instructor, and the class will meet Mondays from 7 to 9:30 from September 26 through November 28.

Audition interviews are required for all courses except playwrighting. Call 683-9100, ext. 6021 between 10 and 5 for appointments.

Bread and Puppet Theatre Is Coming to Princeton

The Bread and Puppet Theater will make a three day visit to Princeton starting Thursday September 22, when it will begin rehearsing local residents for a free public performance Saturday, September 24, on the grounds of Westminster Choir College.

The visit is sponsored by The Coalition for Nuclear Disarmament in connection with its annual teaching conference Sunday, September 25. Co-sponsors include the Choir College, McCarter Theatre, Princeton University's Program in Theatre and Dance, the Arts Council, Creative Theatre Unlimited, and Nassau Presbyterian Church.

Bread and Puppet Theater, founded 20 years ago by the German-born sculptor Peter Schumann, began with experiments in a New York City loft space on themes ranging from fairy tales to daily news. The troup moved out into the streets and churches of the city, and annual productions of the Christmas and Easter stories were an important part of the repertory.

At the same time, the Bread and Puppet Theater expressed its concern for contemporary social issues by creating parades in connection with rent strikes and voter registration. Workshops were held involving large numbers of adults and children who built dragons and giant puppets and used them in parks and playgrounds. During the 1960s the group participated in demonstrations against the war in Vietnam using larger-than-life size puppets and masked performers in vigils, parades and street shows.

In 1970 Bread and Puppet Theater moved to Vermont and for four years was theater-in-residence at Goddard College in Plainfield. Since 1974 it has made its home in Glover where it holds a two-day annual festival that attracts thousands. The company also tours extensively in the United States and abroad, continuing to address contemporary issues such as nuclear disarmament and Central America.

The current production, A Possion Play For A Young Tree, tells the story of the human race from Creation to Doomsday in the tradition of the medieval passion plays. Larger-than-life puppets, peo-

MUSIC

New Jersey Symphony To Open 66th Season

The New Jersey Symphony Orchestra is preparing its 66th season. The opening concert in the major concert series in this area will be held Saturday, October 1, at 8 p.m. in the War Memorial Theater in Trenton.

Music director Hugh Wolff will conduct and cellist Lynn Harrell will be the guest artist. The program will include Short Ride in a Fast Machine, by Adams; Prokofiev's Sinfonia Concertante, and Mahler's Symphony No. 1 in D major.

The concert is the first of 10 in the major concert series. Mr. Wolff will conduct seven of the 10, and the remaining concerts will be conducted by violinist Joseph Silverstein, who will also be the featured soloist, associate conductor Michael Pratt, and Zdenek Macal. In addition to Mr. Silverstein, guest artists will include Carter Brey, cello; Richard Stoltzman, clarinet; Shlomo Mintz, violin; Maureen Forrester, contralto; Jorge Bolet and Jeffrey Kahane, pianists; and the Westminster Choir.

In addition to the major concerts, members of the New Jersey Symphony will also be heard in four chamber orchestra concerts in Richardson Auditorium, as well as other locations in the State. The first will take place Friday, November 25, with Mr. Wolff conducting and Peter Serkin, pianist, performing Ravel's Concerto in G major for Piano and Orchestra. Mr. Pratt will conduct the second chamber concert in January.

The New Jersey Symphony also plans a winter pops series of four concerts on Saturday evenings in the War Memorial Theatre in Trenton. The first of these is on Saturday, November 19, with John McGlinn, conductor, Kyung-Seun Pee, piano, in a program of music by Cole Porter. Other pops concerts will feature the Billy Taylor Trio, the Canadian Brass, and conductor Mitch Miller leading an all Gershwin program.

Other events planned for the 1988-89 season include three performances at the newly renovated State Theatre in New Brunswick and more than 70 Young People's Concerts in schools throughout the state.

Subscriptions for the major concert series and the winter pops series are on sale at the NJSO box office. Call 1-800-ALLEGRO, or (201) 624-8203. Limited single tickets remain for the Richardson Auditorium Chamber Orchestra Series.

American Brass Quintet To Perform at Museum

The American Brass Quintet will perform Saturday, October 1, at 8 p.m. in the auditorium of the New Jersey State Museum in the first concert of the Capital Music Festival Series sponsored by the Composers Guild of New Jersey.

The American Brass Quintet is the ensemble-in-residence at the Juilliard School during the winter and the Aspen Music Festival and School in the summer. The group has recently completed a tour of Japan and the People's Republic of China.

Its current repertoire features compositions by Carl Della Peruti and David Sampson, both residents of New Jersey. Mr. Peruti has degrees from Ithaca College and the Cleveland Institute of Music. His compositions have been performed throughout the country.

Mr. Sampson teaches at Delbarton School, Morristown. He received his bachelor of music from the Curtis Institute and MFA from Hunter College. His works have been performed by such groups as the Cleveland Orchestra Chorus and the Dorian Wind Quintet. As a trumpeter he has performed with many ensembles and orchestras including the Philadelphia Orchestra, the Colorado Symphony and New York Pro Musica.

Faculty Recital Featured At Westminster College

Members of the Westminster Conservatory Wind Department will be featured in the first performance of the 1988-89 Faculty Recital Series Sunday, September 25. The recital will begin at 4 p.m. in Bristol Chapel on the Westminster Choir College campus.

The performers will be Sherry Apgar, clarinet; Paul Cardenuto, clarinet; Brian Kershner, bassoon; and Brendan Hartz, trombone. Also performing will be pianists Victoria Griswold, Amanda Hooper, Mutsumi Moteki, and Nancy Winterrowd. The program will include works by Vivaldi, Pierne, Milhaud, Jean-Jean, Brahms, Bozza, and Serocki.

Ms. Apgar holds two degrees from Temple University and studied at Peabody Conservatory. She has performed with orchestras both in the United States and Europe.

Mr Cardenuto holds a degree from Trenton State College and studied at Temple University. He has performed throughout the Delaware Valley, including with the Princeton Chamber Symphony.

Mr. Hartz holds two degrees from the Juilliard School. A teacher in the Bordentown Regional School District, he has performed in both the United States and Europe. Ms. Griswold holds two degrees from the Manhattan School of Music. In 1983 she had her debut at Carnegie Recital Hall, and performed a concert tour of Europe earlier this year.

Ms. Hooper is a master's degree candidate at Westminster Choir College, from which she received a bachelor's degree. Ms. Moteki holds a bachelor's degree from Kunitachi College of Music in Japan and a master's degree from Westminster Choir College.

Ms. Winterrowd holds a bachelor's degree from Eastman School of Music and a master's degree from Villa Schifanoia in Florence, Italy. She has taught at several schools in the Philadelphia area and has served as accompanist for the Camerata Opera Theatre in Cherry Hill.

Admission is $5 for adults and $3 for students and senior citizens. For information about all performances at Westminster call 921-2663.

Eileen B. Saums, Allied Member A.S.I.D. speaks on Some Tips on How to Buy Lamps.

Keep in mind that a lamp must serve two functions, equally well. It must be an attractive decorative accessory and it must provide the right lighting in the place it is to be used

The height of a lamp is important because (a) it should be properly proportioned to all other furniture in the room; (b) it should be the right height for reading; (c) and it should not be so high or so low that the bulbs glare in your eyes when you are standing or sitting

If you want a matching pair of lamps on each side of your sofa, here's one decorating suggestion to think about Place the lamps on differently shaped tables of the same height, and that will give you a little more variety Matching lamps are fine, and you might also want to consider two distinctively different lamps on each side of your sofa for decorator effect Either way can be nice.

Here's a useful tip some people don't think about If it is possible, you might want to have convenient wall switches at the entrance to rooms to light the lamps rather than grope around in the dark looking for lamp switches

We have a "lamp-lovers paradise" with a large selection of style, size, color and finish.

We now have a new line of Quality Lamps. A nice feature of this company is a dimmer switch. Remember, It's not too early to think about the holidays.

The Presbyterian Homes of New Jersey announces its newest geriatric nursing care center

The Monroe Village
Health Care Center

This is an opportunity for the general public to apply for skilled and intermediate nursing care at the Health Care Center. In the future, only residents of Monroe Village (our continuing care retirement community) will be eligible.

Since 1927, The Presbyterian Homes of New Jersey has been dedicated to providing tender loving nursing care in an atmosphere of human dignity and enhancement of life.

Residents of our health care center will enjoy:

- Daily room and board at an inclusive rate
- Pleasant home-like surroundings in a secure environment
- A professional medical and nursing staff
- Supportive social services
- Planned daily activities and recreation
- Physical, speech and occupational therapies
- Individual nutritional planning

The Monroe Village Health Care Center is licensed by the State of New Jersey to provide total long term care services to private paying residents and has applied for Medicare and Medicaid approval.

For further information, please write or call Marcia Kirkpatrick, Director of Social Services or Romayne Smith, RN, Director of Nursing Services.

IT'S NEW To Us

Great Variety of Items At Princeton Hardware

"People like hardware stores because of the gadget appeal. They love to look around. In fact, the store may have the same attraction as a garage sale or a flea market," says Princeton Hardware owner Joe Luther with a smile. "But we also are supplying things that people really need. These are not frivolous items. They perform a basic function."

It's true that hardware stores are uniquely appealing to many people, and the temptation to browse among all the fascinating items at Princeton Hardware can be irresistible. The shelves are overflowing with a tantalizing array of gadgets, tools, appliances and a myriad of miscellany. Kitchen clocks, baby gates, shopping carts, paint brushes, flashlights, saws, axes, extension cords, clotheslines ... the list goes on and on.

Mr. Luther explains that fall is a very busy time for the Princeton Shopping Center store. "People start yard clean-ups now," he says. "When the leaves come down, they'll stop in for rakes and lawn and trash bags. Also, tulip and daffodil bulbs have just come in, and they have been very successful for us. And our supplier says we are his biggest account for paper while narcissus. Fall is the time to plant these bulbs, and when you're planting, remember, the deer do not eat daffodils.

"Also," he adds, "people bring their plants inside in the fall and repot them. We have lots of flower pots. This fall, we'll sell more grass seed than usual because people lost their lawn in the summer's extreme heat and drought. This is the best time to plant grass seed and also to fertilize trees and shrubs.

"The hot summer was also hard on the evergreen trees," he reports, "and in late November and early December, it's good to apply Wilt-Pruf spray to protect the trees from winter's extreme cold and windburn.

Mr. Luther also reminds customers that October is the time for safeguarding driveways with special sealer to prevent cracking in the winter, and soon, he adds, people will be coming in for bird feeders and seed

Indoor Projects. As the days grow chilly, many people turn to indoor projects. "This is the time when they'll decide to paint in anticipation of company, or they'll refinish the furniture," he notes. "We sell Valspar paint which is very good and very popular. We also have varnish remover, stains and sealers."

Other big fall sellers are alarm clocks ("Back to work and back to school"), door mats (both indnor and outdoor), storage chests and stackable crates. "People are space conscious," says Mr. Luther, "and we also carry a line of stackable shelves and drawers. A popular new item is the 'Bag It' garbage can that conforms in size to the plastic bags you get in supermarkets. The bag fits right into the plastic can.

"Housewares are our biggest sellers," he continues. "Pots, pans, glasses, garbage cans, baking needs, coffee makers and replacement carafes. These are all very popular

"Of course, we also sell the basics all the time — a lot of plumbing and electrical items and general hardware, too. there is also a big demand for keys — we make a lot of duplicate keys."

Big Inventory. Business has grown tremendously in the eight years Mr. Luther has owned the store, he says, and he and the staff work hard to fulfill the customers' needs. "We try to give people the best personal service we can, and we carry as much merchandise as we can. We have three times the national average of inventory per square foot of other hardware stores.

"Also, one of the services we provide is to assemble. If you have ever tried to put together a gas grill, you'll appreciate this. Delivery of large items is also available."

The store's location has proved successful, too, he remarks. "It's convenient and the parking is easy. The store has been located in the shopping center for more than 30 years, and it's been a good match. This shopping center is a great place for basics. It has a little bit of everything, a variety of stores. It has what people need."

A Plainsboro native, Princeton High School graduate and former Navy pilot, Mr. Luther enjoys the give and take with customers and also the challenges and satisfaction of running his own business. "I like helping people. To be in this business, you have to like people and want to help them. And, of course, I really like working for myself, too."

Prices cover a wide range at Princeton Hardware — all the way from one cent to $100. Small nails and screws can cost just a few cents while large exhaust fans are $100 and more. Prices in between include rolls of contact paper at $2.19 and $3.19, window thermometers at $3.79, the 'Bag-It' garbage can $6.95, door mats from $9.99 to $29.99, Melitta 12-cup coffeemaker $15.29, irons $21.98 to $63.49, toasters from $19.05 and Black & Decker Shortcut food processor $49.99.

All narcissus bulbs, including daffodils, are 75 cents each, 10 for $6.90, tulip bulbs 39 cents each, 10 for $3.50 and crocuses 25 cents each and 10 for $2.10.

Mr. Luther adds that a sale will be progress starting next week. Look for the circular in next week's TOWN TOPICS.

Gift certificates are also available. Princeton Hardware is open Monday-Friday 8:30 to 6, Saturday 8:30 to 5 and Sunday 10 to 2.

30 YEARS OF SERVICE: "We're a family operation, and we like to place emphasis on that. It's a little more personal here. We stress the personal touch." Hinkson's Stationery's managers and owner, Andrew Mangone, Bert Roberto and John Roberto are proud of their Nassau Street shop's long-time reputation both for service and quality merchandise.

Office and School Needs at Hinkson's Stationery

"I grew up with this store. I grew up in Princeton and went to school here. I loved the area. And this is what I know. We're a real family business," comments John Roberto, co-manager of Hinkson's Stationery at 82 Nassau Street.

Mr. Roberto's father, Bert Roberto, established the family tradition 30 years ago when he purchased Hinkson's from the store's original owner Harold M. Hinkson. A much smaller operation in those days, the shop offered newspapers, greeting cards and a small selection of writing supplies. As the years passed, the merchandise and the space both expanded. Hinksons's moved to the much larger location in 1960 and several years ago added a warehouse on Alexander Road.

The family tradition continues also. John Roberto's cousin, Andrew Mangone, is now co-manager, and owner Bert Roberto supervises the overall operation of the business.

"We're very busy now through Christmas," notes John Roberto. "Fall is especially busy. The university students come back, high school has started, and little kids come in, too. They all stop in for supplies.

"Also," he continues, "I'd like to emphasize our phone business. Large companies, small companies or individuals all can order by phone. We offer free delivery and fast service, often same-day delivery. If someone phones an order by 8:30 or 9 in the morning, we'll try very hard to have it to them by afternoon. We'll run it over personally. We have two trucks now and a wagon. And the big factor we have is the personal attention."

He adds that Hinkson's has also had a catalogue for a number of years. "People can order right out of it, and we offer next day service. We have the warehouse on Alexander Road, and we keep the bulk of things there. We have a supply of all the merchandise here at the store, too, but everything is at the warehouse. Three times a year, we have a special warehouse sale with items up to 50% off. We expect to have one around Christmas."

Simple to Sophisticated. Whether it's back to school supplies, office products and furnishings, desk accessories, art materials or just a multitude of miscellaneous items, Hinkson's can provide it. From simple to sophisticated, the selection is wide and varied.

How about a new box of ballpoint pens or pencils for the office? Or perhaps the upscale Mont Blanc fountain pen for personal use? Notebooks and erasers for school? Sketch pads and charcoal for the artists? Calculators and computer paper, clipboards and corkboards, file folders and file cabinets, postal seals and pencil sharpeners, desks and diskettes — they're all on hand.

There are also special items for special people. Left-handed individuals will appreciate the "Notebooks for Lefties" which open on the left, with the binding on the right. Special scissors for lefties are also available.

"The inventory has grown tremendously in the last five years, coinciding with the growth of the area," reports Mr. Roberto. "Our phone order business with companies has increased, too.

"Calendars, datebooks and planners are all very big right now. It's hard to keep up with the demand," he adds. "Also, calculators, especially Texas Instruments, are big sellers for us, and our line of computer products is very popular, including paper, ribbons and diskettes. They have become very, very big sellers in the past few years."

On the more old-fashioned side, a traditional favorite over many years has been Hinksons's selection of Crane stationery. "We carry a large assortment of this," notes Mr. Roberto, "and it sets us apart from some other similar stores. This is quality, quality paper."

And, he quips, "This is the paper to write on with a Mont Blanc pen."

Popular Pads. Another popular item is the National Signature Series of lined pads. "They come in two sizes and three colors — rose, gray and blue. They're perforated, easy to tear and very, very popular," reports Mr. Roberto.

Prices runs the gamut at Hinkson's — from 39 cents for miniature pencil sharpeners to $900 or $1,000 for a credenza desk, with all prices in between. File cabinets range from $70 for the budget line up to $350 for wood, and $800 to $900 for five-drawer lateral cabinets.

Calculators are from $7.95 to $50, desk lamps $15.95 and up, Rolodex files $18, pencil sharpeners from $12.70, scissors from $3.50, corkboards $7 and up, and desk organizers $3 and up. Mont Blanc pens are $65 to $500.

Customers have always enjoyed the relaxed, friendly atmosphere at Hinkson's, and Mr. Roberto attributes this to the store's top notch staff. "The attention — the personal service — is what sets us apart. You don't get that in too many others places. Some of our people have been here just a few years, and other many years, but they all make a great contribution. Charles Bartolino is a sales representative of our company, and he started with my father 30 years ago. He has the most knowledge of the store.

"Greg Hamer handles shipping and receiving, and he's very important to us. He takes care of the entire basement, stocks and takes orders over the phone. Bruce Henninger is our main driver, and we couldn't get along with him. He's lived in Princeton all his life and really knows the area."

"Working hard is also a big part of the job," adds Mr. Roberto. "We're not afraid to work here. The hours can be long. We often stay late at night stocking supplies, but the rewards and satisfaction make it worthwhile. I'm involved in everything, and I enjoy it all."

Hinkson's is open Monday-Saturday 9 to 5:30.

Artworks Fall Classes in Princeton and Trenton

Artworks, formerly known as the Princeton Art Association, is offering more than 35 fall classes in painting, drawing, sculpture, watercolor, pastel, figure studies, enamel, weaving, design and art history. Classes, for young people and adults, are at the beginner and advanced levels. Students may register at any time by mail or in person.

Classes will begin the week of September 25 and most will meet once a week for 10 weeks. Day and evening sessions are offered. For complete class listings and descriptions, call 921-9173.

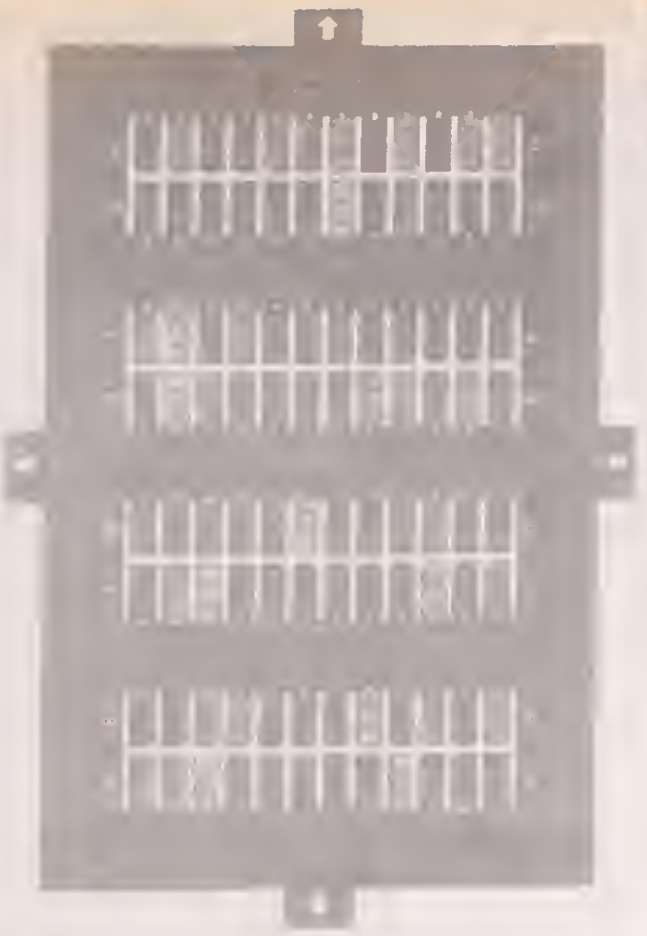
Students will have an opportunity to see the work of instructors, meet the faculty and register for classes, at the Artworks Open House, 45 Stockton Street, on September 14 from 6 to 8 p.m., and in Trenton on September 22, from 4:30 to 7:30 p.m.

With the opening of the Artworks facility in Trenton, at 19 Everett Alley, students have two locations from which to select their classes.



"PARKING LOT WITH CARS," a lithograph by John Salvest, will be on display at the Norbert Considine Gallery at Stuart Country Day School through October 7.

Several new courses and instructors have been added to the curriculum. Highlights for the fall semester include Art History, Enhancing Color through Glazes, and Fiber Collage.

The art history course is an introduction to the history of western art. The fall unit will emphasize the art of the caves through the pre-Renaissance period. The class also includes illustrated lectures and field trips. Instructors are Geri De Paoli and Jacqueline Meisel.

Enhancing Color through Glazes, taught by Linda Lombardi, will offer a specialized watercolor class focusing on the enhancing of color and color relationships through the overlaying of glazes.

Lore Lindenfeld will offer a course in fiber collage. Students will create an assemblage of contrasting designs in color and texture using solid and transparent fabrics and stitchery combined with drawings.

Artworks welcomes several new instructors to its staff this fall, including Ms. Meisel, who has taught art history at Bloomfield College and served on the education staff at the Philadelphia Museum of Art and the Whitney Museum of American Art in New York City; Mary Kramarenko, a former art teacher in the New York City public schools; and Earl Lewis, a Philadelphia artist who has devoted much of his time to capturing and documenting life on the streets, waterways and parks of his city.

Ceramic Studio, Classes New at Arts Council

The Arts Council of Princeton has opened a new ceramic studio, which is located downstairs in its building at 102 Witherspoon Street. The studio is equipped with two kickwheels, wedging and work tables, storage shelves and a new electric kiln.

Classes in ceramic sculpture and pottery will begin in the studio the week of September 26. They will be held on Tuesdays and Thursdays from 7 to 9 p.m. Erika Dennis is the ceramic studio coordinator and instructor. Kiln firing time will also be available. Arts Council members receive a discount on class and firing fees.

Figure drawing workshops will be held at The Arts Council of Princeton on Monday evenings, beginning September 26, from 7 to 10. A monitor will be present to time and set up poses, but there will be no formal instruction or critiques.

Workshops are set up on a drop-in basis (pay as you attend). The fees are $6 per class for Arts Council members, $7 for nonmembers. For more information, call 924-8777.

Tiger Football Team Seeks to Take First Step in Pursuit Of Ivy Title with Win over Cornell at Ithaca Saturday

Great Expectations.

These two words sum up the feelings of everyone involved with Princeton football that this could be a memorable season.

The most optimistic believe the 19-year span without an Ivy title will end; the more cautious think that may elude the Tigers for another year or so; but no one is predicting anything less than a winning season. That is the minimum goal.

It looks great on paper, and in just three days, we'll get a solid idea how it looks on grass, or in this case the artificial turf of Cornell's Schoellkopf Field. The Orange and Black will be in Ithaca this Saturday to open the season against the Big Red, heginning at 1 p.m. WBUD

SPORTS

(1270 AM) and WPRB (104.1 FM) will carry the action. Howard David and Kevin Gutherie will both return to the WBUD broadcast booth.

Other than opening against Harvard in Cambridge, or Yale in the Bowl, this is probably the toughest league match-up Princeton could have drawn. If things break right for Cornell, it could mount its own challenge for the championship.

After its superlative 8-2 campaign two years ago, Maxie Baughn's team fell back to 5-5 in 1987, losing three of its last four. The team that suffered through a 23-6 loss in freezing Palmer Stadium at the end of last season didn't look much like the one that opened with a 17-13 win over Penn in Philadelphia.

Senior quarterback David Dase emerged as the starter midway through last fall, but never quite achieved the consistency needed to become an above average passer. His game here was a nightmare, marked by five interceptions, and a poor 13-for-30 performance.

Dase's Performance Is Key. Thus, at the beginning of this season, Dase is a question mark, and the outcome of this contest could turn on his performance. If Cornell falls behind, Baughn could bring in senior Aaron Sumida, who had the starting job at the beginning of last year.

The team's top rusher and second leading receiver from a year ago, senior tri-captain Scott Malaga, is also back. Another offensive threat is wide receiver Sam Brickley, a first team all-Ivy player who led the league in receptions as a junior. The line returns four of five starters.

The defense is less set, however, and the opportunities should be there for the Tigers to exploit some apparent weaknesses. The line was decimated by graduation, and has newcomers at all positions but one. Inexperience also abounds in the secondary, which lost two first-team, all-Ivy performers. Cornell should be vulnerable at the corners.

A trio of solid linebackers led by senior tri-captain Mike McGrann will have to be the glue that the holds this defense together for the first few games. From this point of view, it may be fortunate Old Nassau is playing the Big Red early.

Tosches Optimistic. Steve Tosches firmly believes his players have the physical potential to beat any team on the schedule. He is less certain about the mental preparation.

"We have some explosiveness on offense," he said at the pre-season media day last week, obviously referring mainly to Jason and Judd Garrett. "Defensively our big strength is that we feel we can stand up against the run and stop it. In past years, we had to hold our breath."

Tosches' main concern is achieving the same kind of positive chemistry that existed a year ago. Spurred by the death of Ron Rogerson, that team had a tremendous drive and desire to excel.

This year's squad has been slower to respond; the first week of pre-season was fairly quiet, several players acknowledged. George Sarcevitch, Mark Rockefeller and Dave Wix gave credit to departed seniors Mark Seilhammer and Jeff Baker among others for their roles as "holler" guys last year.

"The overall attitude has been fine," Tosches stressed. "But I haven't seen that burning desire yet. I want to make sure these guys don't think they can equal last year merely by showing up.

"I've set my standards to take the next step, to elevate the program to the next level. Maybe this is just a bit of pickiness on my part. I don't want to settle for just above average, but keep pushing for an even higher level, and that takes real desire on the players' part."

Open Positions Filled. Three weeks of pre-season have seen some former reserve players nail down starting positions. The wide open race for wide receiver, featuring 12 players, has been won by senior Dave Wix and junior Scott Gibbs. Wix, who was one of several receivers who worked out with quarterback Jason Garrett regularly during the summer, said he was more than ready when pre-season began.

The two guard slots on the offensive line will be filled by Jay Davidson and Eddie Record. Davidson was a back-up to Andy Johanni last season; Record did not see much action as a sophomore.

In addition to Jason and Judd, the backfield will have Dennis Heidt and Greg DiFelice as a one-two punch at fullback. Kris Keys, who Tosches says could start for several Ivy teams, will spell Judd at halfback.

Rick Emery will anchor the defensive line from his spot at end; senior Kurt Hovan will start in place of Rob Walker, who is injured, at the other end position. Steve Hillegeist will take over for Kevin Lynch until the latter's knee has healed.

STURHAHN, DICKENSON & BERNARD

One of the most amazing plays in football history happened in the 1982 Stanford-California game ... California, trailing 20-19 with four seconds to play, took a Stanford kickoff and used an incredible 5-lateral, 57-yard return for the winning touchdown run that went right through the Stanford band which was on the field for an early celebration ... The dramatic laterals-and-run play ended when the California ball carrier bowled over a Stanford trombone player in the end zone.

Saturday's Picks

Princeton over Cornell*. Garrett will be able to exploit Big Red's inexperienced defense.

Harvard* over Columbia. Ivy champion still too tough for what should be a better Lion team.

Penn over Dartmouth*. Quakers' strength uncertain, but Big Green decidedly weak.

Yale over Brown*. Elis quarterbacking a question mark, but rest of team is solid; Bruins rebuilding.

Craig Yates, a junior who returns after a leave of absence from the University, will join Franco Pagnanelli and Ray Ran at linebacker. As expected, Mike Hirou has won the free safety job; Greg Burton will take over at strong safety. The new cornerback will be Vince Avallone, who had such a great day against Cornell last November.

Brad Remig, a starter on Tom O'Connell's baseball team, appears to have won the job as the team's punter, replacing Scott Sellers. Jeff Hyde and Chris Lutz are still vying for the place kicking duties, with Hyde ahead at the moment.

Unknowns on Both Sides. Opening games are difficult to predict, because the abilities of so many players are untested. As Tosches said when asked about the team's weaknesses: "We don't have any weaknesses at the moment, only question marks. We won't know the weaknesses till we lose a couple."

Man for man, Princeton would appear to have the better personnel in this contest, but that doesn't always win football games, especially in the Ivy League. A big play either way could decide the outcome Saturday in what figures to be a close game.

Motivation could play a part, too. Cornell has last year to remember, and Princeton has the painful memories of two years ago at Ithaca, when the players suffered through a 39-8 loss. The loss was bad enough; it got worse when the Cornell bench emptied onto the field in joyous celebration after the winners scored their fifth touchdown.

"It was one of the most embarrassing moments I've ever had as a coach," Tosches commented. "That was miserable."

Seniors on the team remember also. Saturday, they'll have a chance to turn that embarrassment around.

—Jeb Stuart

Notes: In two quarters of scrimmage last Friday at the Taft School in Connecticut, Tigers nipped Dartmouth, 23-21. In limited action, Jason Gorrett threw for two touchdowns, one to his brother, Judd; sophomore Lorenzo Bivens ran five yards for another, and Jeff Hyde kicked a field goal.

Hun Booters Are Second In Shipley Tournament

The question facing second year-coach Frank Rizzo and the Hun School soccer team is, 'Is there life after Dekhonte Monyoukaye?'

Monyoukaye had been the scoring and spiritual leader for Hun for the past four seasons. And although his defenders caught up to him his senior year, Monyoukaye, an excellent ball handler who could score with either foot, led Hun with 13 goals. Field general Mike Knox, also departed, had eight.

Rizzo needs replacements to fill the void but off Hun's initial outing in the annual Shipley School (Pa.) Tournament Saturday, Rizzo's pre-season comment, "We're in a lot of trouble," may have been premature.

Frank Leal
Standout at Cornerback

Hun won its opening game in the four-school tourney by defeating host Shipley, 2-1. Senior striker Paul Martelloni's goal with four minutes left, assisted by Pat Murphy, was the game-winner. Chris Kamnitsis had tallied Hun's first goal in the first half to give the Red and Black a 1-0 lead. Hun goalie Anacleto Origone had eight saves.

———

In the title game, Hun fell to defending champion, Hill School, 4-1.

Martelloni scored for Hun in the first half, Murphy again assisting, as the teams were deadlocked at 1 at the half. In the second half, Hill, which had routed Valley Forge Military Academy, 7-0, in the opening round, scored three unanswered goals to retain its Shipley crown.

———

In upcoming games, Hun will host Newark Academy at noon as part of Saturday's Parents' Day activities.

On Tuesday at 3:15, it will oppose town rival Princeton High at the Little Tigers' home field. Now that PHS and Princeton Day no longer meet on the soccer field, Hun has become the lone town rival for the Little Tigers.

Hun Eleven Wins, 13-6; Parents' Day Saturday

With junior running back Steve Kertesz rushing for 101 yards in 23 carries and scoring one touchdown and freshman Todd Coyer filling in more than adequately for injured quarterback Jim Sheeder, Hun Saturday defeated visiting Jenkintown (Pa.) High School, 13-7.

In victory, Hun accomplished a number of things. It continued its winning tradition under second-year coach Bill Long, who was 8-1 his first year; it won its first night game ever (the game was played under the lights at Notre Dame High's Nolan Field — another idea of Long's) and it served notice that Hun is going to be tough to beat again this fall.

"That was a good Jenkintown team," said Long. But Hun was better — better than the score indicated.

It had two TDs called back in the first half plus a 45-yard gallup to the Jenkintown five — all erased by penalities. "As it was, we had almost 300 yards in offense," said Long.

———

Because Hun's game was the first high school game scheduled in the State, it's second opponent, Newark Academy has not seen action yet. But Long said he had scouted Newark's scrimmage with Mountain Lakes and reports they run the option well and have a good running back returning.

The Saturday game with visiting Newark, starting at 1:30, will also be Parents' Day at Hun.

got on the board at 10:57 in the second period when Coyer hooked up with a 59-yard pass to split end Jeff Mayer, the 6-2 transfer student from Texas. The play covered 70 yards.

"Coyer was calling plays up at the line of scrimmage about 20 percent of the time and I thought he did a good job," said Long. He described the 205-pound Kertesz, who scored Hun's second TD from three yards out in the third period, as the toughest, hardest-running back he has ever coached.

The biggest difference between the teams, Long felt, was in the lines. "Out line outplayed their line," he said, and the prime factor in that success, Long added, was the play of tackle Alex Whitman who went both ways. Defensive end Seth Wolkoff contributed three quarterback sacks.

"We put a lot of pressure on their quarterback Scott May," said Long, who noted that May ended up sitting on the bench, a victim of the Hun pounding.

"It was," allowed Long, "a nice start."

PHS Will Host Steinert In Saturday Grid Opener

Although he said that he felt his team would be further along than it actually is after two preseason scrimmages, Princeton High football coach Kurt Vollherbst nevertheless added: "We are definitely going to be ready for Steinert. The kids are working too hard not to improve."

The two teams will meet in the opener for both schools Saturday morning at 11 at the Princeton High field.

Princeton is coming off a losing season last year while Steinert finished with a satisfying 6-3 mark. But the Spartans lost key players through graduation including the veteran Young brothers, quarterback Scott Young and wide receiver Tom Young. Also their leading ground gainer, John Leone, and their leading receiver, Rob Mazella.

So it is not surprising that as Steinert coach Steve Simek starts his ninth year, he says that his team will have to overcome inexperience in the early going.

Counters Vollherbst, "I look at Steinert this way: they always have scrappy players who just keep coming at you. They're an aggressive team. They are always going to give you trouble no matter how experienced or inexperienced their squad is."

Vollherbst reports he is 95 percent set on the starting Little Tiger lineup. Two question marks remaining are at quarterback and tight end. Junior Rob Morris and senior Scott McGoldrick have been battling each other to nail down the starting quarterback assignment.

"One will do well one day and one the next. I thought I had it solved but I'm still working at it," said Vollherbst.

Earlier PHS scrimmaged Hamilton and on Saturday it had a final tune-up with New Brunswick. "I feel our kids will come along but we were not mentally ready to go Saturday morning," said Vollherbst. "We were very sluggish in the first quarter. After we got our feet on the ground we started to do a few things better."

"The kids are still working hard and we have to be ready. We are going to have to be on top of our game when we play Steinert."

PHS Girls Win, 4-0 In Home Soccer Opener

"Considering it was our first game, we played very well," said Princeton High coach Becky Mackey of her team's 4-0 shutout Friday over the visiting McCorristin girls' hockey team.

"We're still inexperienced and we haven't met Ewing yet," continued Mackey, "but at the same time we looked like a better passing team. The kids are very positive so all we can do is continue to do our best."

———

PHS will host Ewing this Wednesday at 3:45. Then it will be at Lawrence High Friday, and entertain West Windsor on Monday. If Mackey seems a bit tentative after the impressive opening win, she may be recalling last season when PHS won its opener and then fell into the lost column when it met the Ewings and the Lawrences.

Inability to get off shots crippled the PHS offense last year. Against McCorrstin, Mackey observed, "We dominated the game. We were really shooting. We had a lot of shots (14) on goal."

Actually, PHS scored more than four. One apparent score was nullified by an offside penalty, and a goal by freshman Marcie Procaccini, at the end of the contest, was not allowed after the game's official timer ruled time had run out. A measure of Princeton's domination was the number of saves by Princeton: four by Webber and two by freshman Marcie Procaccini.

With Webber in goal, teammate Julie Muller scored unassisted goals in each of the first two periods to give PHS a 2-0 half time lead. Midway through the third period, Mackey replaced Webber with Procaccini and Webber, equally at home in the field, connected for two scores, Joan Sullivan assisting on one.

THEY'LL KEEP THE BALL ROLLING: PDS soccer coach Carlos Cara will be counting on these four players — Chris Jones, Dave Ragsdale, Chris Lake and Dave Mraovitch — among others, to lead the Panthers to another winning season and a shot at the Prep "B" title. (Craig C. Stuart photo)

"Julie played one of her finest games ever in midfield," praised Mackey. "Andrea Gonzalez-Lavin played stopper and she and Lisa Ballard, in the middle, were extremely consistent. Every time the ball came to the middle they were there, so McCorristin had a hard time trying to bring the ball up."

Cara Sees Fresh Start For PDS Boys Soccer

Two years ago the Princeton Day boys' soccer team captured the Prep B title on the way to a 13-7 record. With just three starters graduating, another strong season seemed ahead for 1987.

The Panthers did finish 9-5-2 last fall, but it was something of a disappointment, and they lost the Prep B title in the process. This season coach Carlos Cara is preparing for a fresh new start.

Cara is calling this a building year. He has a nucleus of veteran players returning, but no stars among them. "We are going to need to look for motivation," he comments.

"If they can hang in and walk away from losses and see where they need to improve, we'll be okay at the end of the year."

Cara named six players he expects to make major contributions along the way. He is looking to junior Dave Ragsdale to run the backfield from his sweeperback position. Another junior, Chris Lake, will work in tandem with Ragsdale at midfield in the ball control type of game Cara stresses.

Senior Dave Mraovitch will fit in either at midfield or at forward. Sophomore Chris Jones, coming off a good freshman year, will be on the forward line. Another sophomore, John Belanger, will be in goal for the Panthers. Cara is also counting upon Andy Dykstra, recovering from an injured foot, to play forward.

A couple of scrimmages have been cancelled, so the first test against an outside opponent will come in the season's opener against Dwight-Englewood this Wednesday at home. PDS lost a tough one to DE last fall, and Cara is looking for a little revenge. More important, the more league games in the Panthers win, the higher they will be seeded for the tournament.

A contest against Trenton away will follow Saturday, and Monday PDS will face Morristown-Beard at home.

PDS Field Hockey Hopes To Regain Winning Ways

After eight years of unbridled success, the Princeton Day field hockey team fell on hard times last fall. The Panthers suffered through their first losing season, 4-8, since 1979, and lost their Prep A Championship title.

Heavy graduation losses and transfers to Lawrenceville left the Blue and White without experienced players in several positions. However, the season ended on a positive note when PDS played an outstanding game against a strong Lawrenceville squad, losing only 2-1 to the eventual champion.

Now, at the start of a new season with a new coach, Jill Thomas, at the helm, the Panthers are aiming to climb back above the .500 mark. They have made a good start in preseason.

No one was quite prepared for what happened in 1987, but with that experience behind them the players know what they have to do to succeed. Thomas confirms the desire is there.

It will take more than that, of course, but there is talent, too, starting with the three senior tri-captains, Ingrid Hoover, Carrie Regan and Casey Sheldon. Regan, who starts her third year as a varsity player, will team with another standout, Liz Bylin, in the all-important link positions, between the line and the backs.

Hoover and Sheldon will fill two of the three back positions with Hoover at centerback. Defense is key in field hockey because goals often are few and far between, and one-goal victories or losses are common. Junior Christie Fulmer will be sweeperback, and another junior, Lylah Alphonse, will be in goal. This was PDS's strongest position a year ago, with the outstanding play of Elisa DeRochi keeping PDS in many games.

The other back position will be filled by senior Chris Frank. Megan Shaffer and Leslie Powell will also be available for duty at those positions. Across the front line will be seniors Jackie Reiss and Jane Felton, and juniors Jenny Thompson and Lindsay Berkman.

PDS will scrimmage Stuart this Wednesday, and then open its season against Pingry away on Friday. The first home contest will follow Saturday against Lawrence at 10 a.m.

PHS Will Be Competitive Predicts Tennis Coach

"It should be an interesting season. We'll be competitive," predicted Bill Humes, coach of the Princeton High girls' tennis team, last week before the start of the new season.

Humes has been around the block more than once, so he should know. "I've been teaching 29 years and I coached my first year," he said.

While other teams at Princeton High have experienced the normal range of good years and bad years, the tennis teams at PHS have been consistent winners. In recent years, however, Princeton's pre-eminence has been diminishing; it is now more of an equal among the top teams.

Last year, for example, the Little Tigers lost five of 21 matches. Not bad at all. But they failed to win the Valley Division of the CVC, lost to West Windsor in the Mercer County Tournament, and bowed out of the State competition in the second round.

As for the upcoming season, Humes commented: "Basically, we have the same team in terms of strength; it's just a matter of getting the right players together and straightening out the No. 3 singles." He has a squad of 30 — down from his usual 45 to 50, but the erosion is symptomatic of all teams this fall, as the school population dips to the 700 level.

PHS was scheduled to open its season last Friday against Hopewell Valley but the game was moved back four days. It will play its home opener this Wednesday opposite Montgomery and on Friday it will host Ewing. All contests carry a 3:45 starting time.

Following a challenge match between them, sophomore Kim Crusey will open at the number one singles player and junior Karen Castellano will be the second singles. Two seniors, Kristin Swartz and Jill Litt and junior Amy Smith are vying for the third singles slot.

The two losers will join seniors Johanna Baum and Liz Medina in a pool from which Humes will fashion his doubles pairings. Others contending for Humes's attention are seniors Alison Abrams and Cintra Scott, junior Kris Keller and sophomores Liz Gutherie and Melissa King.

At the top of a strong freshman contingent are Jaymie Brechman, one of the first transfers from Cranbury this fall, Nina Pawlak, Anna Studebaker and Susan Rosenfeld, the third Rosenfeld to play at PHS.

Princeton Day School and Stuart — two familiar town rivals — are missing from the schedule this year, as well as Lawrenceville.

Explained Humes: "We have 17 regular-season matches, two or three Mercer County games, and when you add a couple of state tournament games, that's 20 plus games. We never had a chance to catch up and work on some challege matches. It was too many."

New Year, Same Goals For PHS's Joyce Jones

"The tradition of winning must be recreated every year. It just doesn't happen."

The speaker, veteran field hockey coach Joyce Jones at Princeton High, is commenting from experience. Year after year, it seems, she has managed to field a strong Little Tiger team like last year's which compiled a 17-3-1 record, won the Colonial Valley Conference crown, and shared the Mercer County Tournament title with newcomer Lawrenceville School.

"We're certainly not coming back with the experience we had last year," said Jones, who lost nine seniors to graduation, including her top two scorers, Liz Hewson and Anne Tevebaugh. She welcomes back five seniors who will form the heart of this year's squad which will open its season Saturday morning at 10:30 at Ewing High. The home opener will be played Monday at 6 at Mercer County Park against Lawrence High.

Although this year's team may be lacking in experience, it has the enthusiasm and the talent to do well, says Jones.

"I will tell them at our final team meeting — as I always do — that we have the same goals as last year's goals, only a different starting point.

"We are going to make our mistakes," continued Jones. "But the outlook, the goals are the same. I would like to surpass what last year's team did. What I want as results hasn't changed. That's the challenge of a coach: how to create that excellence."

Jones got her first good look at this year's team in a scrimmage Friday with South Hunterdon. The following day, it participated in the annual officials' scrimmage at West Windsor where it played three halves against three Mercer County schools.

As for Saturday's opener with Ewing, Jones is not making any prediction. Said she: "You can be the best team in the state and you still have that unknown. I don't know what their status is. I know we have had super games with them in the past and we have always been fortunate to come out on top." It will be the second game for Ewing.

Returning seniors are Rebecca Savidge, Cindy Stovall, Kristy Collins, Jenny Brassell and goalie Gita Nandan who is taking over in front of the net for veteran Christine Sullo. Another senior is Lisa Callegari, who has been sidelined with appendicitis and will not be able to start working out with the team until four weeks into the season. "We're looking forward to her return in the backfield," said Jones.

Other seniors up from the jayvee team are player-manager Tracy Tahaney, Toni Gorog, Kathryn Cooper and Kerry Walker. Only one junior returns, Kesti Ringland, who will play on the line or midfield. "I have a lot of vacancies and I will have to do some experimenting," said Jones. "Right now, we are concentrating on basic skills, technique and concepts."

She has, she reports, a solid group of 15 freshmen, but the squad of 35 is substantially smaller than those of previous years. "It is smaller," conceded Jones, "and numbers do affect what happens to a team. You just don't have the resources to draw on."

Jones is being assisted again for the fifth year by Mary Beth Caccese, a history teacher at McCorristin High. "Mary summed it up," reported Jones, "when she said the only thing she could predict was the unpredicable."

Jones, had the last word. Aside from a history of success, aside from her being able to create that excellence that has been a hallmark of the Little Tigers, "I am not saying," she concluded,"that we can't use a little luck, too."

First Opening Soccer Win For PHS's Celestin

Not only did the Princeton High boys' soccer team blank McCorristin, 4-0, Friday in its opening game of the season, it presented PHS coach Ron Celestin with a gift: his first opening win in three tries.

"For the most part we played well," agreed Celestin. "I was very pleased. It's a good start."

The Little Tigers will try to keep it rolling in a busy week ahead. This Wednesday it will entertain Ewing at 3:45 in its home opener. Friday it will be at West Windsor and in back-to-back contests it will host West Windsor on Monday at 3:45 and Hun School on Tuesday at 3:15.

A couple of veterans, Wagner and Snider Marseille and some newcomers to the varsity combined to lead PHS to its win over the Iron Mikes. Despite an injured ankle, Snider scored two goals while Wagner tended the goal, turning aside all six shots that the home team could muster. Celestin cited sophomore left winger Seth Meisel for some fine crossing passes ("he's adjusting very well") and senior sweeper Dylan Penningroth "who played a good game" by controlling the play.

Celestin hopes to add another weapon to his arsenal with the return of sophomore goalie Scott Petrone, who has been sidelined with a popped muscle. "We're pushing for this Wednesday," he said.

Petrone's presence in goal would enable Celestin to use Wagner Marseille as sweeper or stopper and move Penningroth up on the line.

Princeton got on the board late in first period when Aaron Burt took a pass from Penningroth at the right of the goal and rammed it home. Sixty-four seconds into the second period, PHS made it 2-0 when Snider converted a tap from Marc Glogoff on an indirect kick at point blank range.

After a scoreless third period, in which the home team Mikes seemed to have the upper hand but could not break through, Charles Jules stole a pass and scored for PHS one minute into the final period. "That," said Celestin, "was definitely a big goal." Snider's second goal ended the scoring.

After the game, Celestin commented that he hoped that the knowledge they could score would give his players a little more confidence in themselves.

Last year was a long year for the Blue and White — only seven wins — because it could not put the ball in the net.

Lake Carnegie Regatta To Be Held Saturday

Saturday morning at 10, the Carnegie Lake Rowing Association will hold its annual regatta at the Kingston end of Lake Carnegie.

This regatta will feature 13 events over a 1500 meter race course ending near the Kingston Dam. Events will accommodate a wide range of rowing skills for men and women in the eight- and four-oared sweep and single sculling categories.

Crews representing the Annapolis, Baltimore, Chester River, Lehigh Valley, Navesink, Oneida, Potomac, Viking and Wilmington rowing clubs are expected to participate. Spectators are invited to attend and may also join the competitors for lunch, which will be available for $5, under the pavilion tent.

Shillaber Wins 2nd Title At Springdale Golf Club

For the second time, Dave Shillaber of Princeton is the 1988 men's golf champion at Springdale Golf Club.

This summer in the club's annual 36-hole championship round, Shillaber trounced Dr. Steve Kahn seven up with six holes to play.

Shillaber first won the club championship years earlier in 1979 when he was 20 to become the second youngest player to win the title. The youngest? His brother, Mike, who was 19 when he won the club singles title in 1976.

Defending champion John Gianacaci, a multiple winner in the previous ten years, won the consolation ("Beaten Eight") flight with victories over Scott Quackenbush (8-and-6), Norm Lewis (3-and-2) and Craig Davis (2-and-1).

He bowed in the championship flight to Larry Pierson.

The women's golf championship at Springdale was captured by Donna Young, who defeated 1987 champion Ruth Thornton, one up.

A great three iron shot that landed ten feet from the cup, after a poor drive on the 18th, clinched the win for Young, as both women birdied the final hole.

———

Others in the championship flight were Kate Litvack, Claire Parsells, Debber Pierson, Jean Brown, Kay Rodriguez and Mimi Franz. Sybil Hargraves won the First Flight with a 4-and-3 victory over Liz Fernandez. Others in the flight were Bernie Johnson, Rose Johnson, Jean Petrone, Jeanne Silvester, and Audrey Gates.

PU Graduate To Compete In Shot Put in Olympics

She is a solid 5-10, 199 pounds but doesn't look that big. She has an ever present smile and is a 1987 graduate of Princeton University.

She is 23-year-old Debbie Saint-Phard, a math teacher at Pennington School where she lives, who left this week for Seoul, Korea to compete in the 1988 Summer Olympics. She is representing her native country, Haiti.

Debbie has been training at Princeton University under the tutelage of Tiger coach Fred Samara. Her best effort in the shot (women use an 8.8 pound shot) is 55-1½ feet. The women's world record is 74 feet. "I would like to throw 60 feet; if I threw 60 I would be ecstatic," said Debbie. The top throwers in the event, she said, are the Soviets and Eastern Europeans. "They're big. They're strong."

Debbie has been throwing the shot, she said, since seventh grade in Wichita, Kansas. In her sophomore year in high school in Louisiana (near New Orleans) she added the discus but will only compete in the shot at Seoul.

Debbie left Haiti to come to the United States when she was small, she said, for her father's safety "for political reasons."

LET'S TALK ABOUT

FALL PLANTING
with Sam deTuro
Woodwinds Associates
LET'S TALK ABOUT POISON IVY

Poison Ivy is one of the most common weed problems homeowners face. It can resemble a vine, low plant or bush. People attempt to identify the plant by its red stem, but stems often turn green late in the growing season. Other people mistake Virginia Creeper for Poison Ivy.

Poison Ivy has waxy white berries, no tendrils or thorns, and three leaves which are shiny or oily looking. It reproduces through seeds that are spread by birds that eat its berries.

Poison Ivy is a distant cousin to mangoes and cashews. Anyone who has suffered from a Poison Ivy encounter knows just how much suffering the irritating oils in this class of plant can cause. This plant can be particularly severe to pets and small children. Homeowners should try to eradicate the plant if it develops in their yard.

Late summer/early fall is the best time to treat Poison Ivy with an application of Roundup. The active ingredient in Roundup is the most effective Poison Ivy killer on the market.

Roundup is foliar-applied to the leafy surface of the plant. When absorbed through the leaves it circulates through the plant's system, killing roots.

With the mellowed charm only the years can bring, this century old brick lined Colonial will appeal to those who cherish reminders of our earlier days. The hall opens to the living room with its tall windows and picturesque fireplace, the large dining room with bay window, the kitchen with breakfast area and a half bath. On second floor, three bedrooms and a bath. A path through a delightful garden leads to a skylit studio for artist or architect. $295,000

Now Previewing In Princeton

The Yedlin Company, Princeton builders for almost 30 years, is pleased to announce the start of construction of homes on Foulet Drive. This second phase of our Andrews Foulet community off Cherry Hill Road in Princeton Township is architecturally inspired by the Shingle Style houses designed by McKim, Mead and White in the late 19th century. Priced from $675,000. For information call Rosemarie Nicholas, Director of Sales and Marketing 609-921-1928.

The "Meeting House" — a charmingly restored and refurbished house that truly was a meeting place about 60 years ago. First, as a recreational facility for the children in the new "Institute" neighborhood. Later as a clubhouse for adults and now a unique Princeton home. The handsome doorway opens to a foyer and a magnificent room (50 feet long with 10-foot ceiling) which lends itself to elegant entertaining as well as gracious living. This dramatic room includes a music area, living area with fireplace, bookshelves for a library and a spacious dining area. The gourmet kitchen is new as are the 2½ baths. Four delightful rooms offer a flexible living arrangement. Two bedrooms share a bath and the master suite includes a study with fireplace. A huge attic offers room for expansion. A "must see" house. $595,000

VINTAGE STONE COLONIAL

Built originally about 1760 and since enlarged with an attractive guest or rental wing. The present owner has brought the property up to mint condition while keeping the ambience and patina of much earlier times. Eight fireplaces, wide pine floors, original woodwork and mantels all lend their charms. Overall there are fourteen rooms including a long center hall; formal living room, dining room, and library; up-to-date kitchen w/new cabinets, pantry and powder room. Upstairs, a study, three bedrooms, and two baths on second floor and two more bedrooms and bath on third. The guest wing has its own spacious living room, dining "L", complete kitchen, bedroom, dressing room and bath. Outside there are almost two and a half acres w/banks of flowering shrubs, huge mature shade trees, fruit trees, lovely flagstone terrace w/wrap around porch, a stone spring house, 2 story carriage house and free-form Sylvan pool. All located conveniently between Princeton and Lawrenceville. Offered at $1,500,000

BY THE BROOK

Near Princeton with a Princeton address at the corner of Elm Ridge and Carter roads. Offered are three separate parcels of estate land varying in size from 24 to 35 acres designed for and limited to one estate type house per parcel. All parcels have frontage on even flowing Stony Brook as well as ample road frontage.

Interesting Part-Time Position Open at Town Topics

Whether you're new to Princeton, or have lived here many years, here is a part-time job opening (three days a week) that will enable you to learn more about this unique town. TOWN TOPICS, Princeton's weekly newspaper, has a position open in its front office that involves a variety of duties.

These include working with real estate advertising, paste-up of ads, some proofreading, answering the phone and other general office functions. Of course, previous experience in newspaper work would be helpful, but it's definitely not necessary. The only skill necessary is average typing.

Our salary is competitive with other part-time jobs in this area. We also offer two weeks paid vacation, Christmas bonus, sick days, parking, and participation in an excellent profit-sharing plan; and last, but not least, a friendly and informal environment. Bring an informal resume along and come in for an interview and a typing test.
